

WHAT'S GOING ON AROUND TOWN

By BILL KATZ

Are people superstitious? This week, we stood by a ladder, leaning against a store on top of the hill, and waited for an answer. Within 10 minutes not one of the steady stream of local residents who passed by the ladder went under it. There was one exception. He was an exuberant tavern customer who, cursing happily, showed his bravo by going under the "menace."

He was followed by a youngster, who, unaware of prejudices, made a line for a friend on the opposite side of the ladder. However, before he'd reached the fatal spot, his mother yelled: "If you walk under that ladder I'll slap you." He went around.

Which may not be so foolish, after all. A few moments later the tavern customer was picked up by a policeman, who escorted him back down the street, around the ladder, and on to the local lockup.

Library statistics — Pennies do the dollars make, at least at the Daly City library where penny fines over a month add up to $30 to $60. There are close to 3,000 volumes in the library, of which only 20 to 25 are lost each year by borrowers who forget to bring them back. Historical novels and detective stories lead the popularity list, with "how-to-do-it" books close behind.

One problem the city may face if it takes over Thornton beach became obvious to a local family last Saturday. The Daly City residents were parking at the beach, now county property, when "jet" propelled tin cans struck the car. A closer inspection showed the head-of-the-house that the cans were being hit by B.B. shot, and more deadly 22s. Some young boys nearby were using the parking area for a rifle range. We think city acquisition of the beach isn't (Continued on Page 2)

Young Queen Chosen To Lead May Day Parade

Sandra Lee Shaughnessy, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shaughnessy, 110 Moltke street, is to be Queen of May Day festivities in Daly City, May 7.

The Jefferson elementary school student was chosen last week from a field of young candidates from all Daly City schools. During the course of the May Day parade and pageant she will rule, assisted by five attendants from the other elementary schools.

Meanwhile, entries are pouring in for the big parade, Eddie Allen, chairman, reported today. Floats, bands, drill teams, marching units, drum units, all are preparing to take a crack at the many ribbons and awards to be given away.

Highlight of the march will be the Arabian stallions, ridden by riders in native costumes of Arabia. These are the same horses that appeared in the recent San Francisco St. Patrick's Day parade.

Also there will be prize Palominoes, Quarter and Parade horses competing for the gold trophy.

The following committee has been selected to work and plan the events of the parade: Dan Andersen, Daly City Theatre manager. (Continued on Page 2)

H. H. Smith Case Comes Up April 18

Postponed for the third time, the case of Daly City vs. H. H. Smith Sr., 187 Irvington street, will be heard in San Mateo superior court April 18.

The case was to come up April 10. Another change is that Judge A. R. Cotton will not be sitting on the bench, Smith reports. A judge still unnamed will hear the case.

The original condemnation proceedings were filed in superior court July 20, 1949. The city wishes to extend Brunswick street through to Hillside boulevard, which entails cutting through about three-quarters of an acre of Smith's property.

Offered $5,022 for the land by the city, Smith rejected the offer as "much too low," precipitating the condemnation suit.

VOTE THIS TUESDAY Residents To Cast Ballots For Three Men For City Council Of Daly City

Daly City residents will go to the polls Tuesday, April 11, to choose three city councilmen to operate their government for the next four years.

Polls will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. in every section of the city, including Westlake.

The 6,500 registered voters will have an opportunity to cast a ballot for three of the following six men:

Mayor Paul Green, A. J. Gaggero and J. H. Kennedy, all running on one ticket.

McBattye, Hugh H. Smith Jr. and Ed Nensiel, also running on one ticket.

Incumbents are Green, Gaggero and Battye. Both Kennedy and Nensiel are newcomers to city politics.

However, throughout the whole pre-election campaign the candidates have made it clear that they hope the voters will cast their ballots for a straight three-man ticket, and not for individuals.

Details on each of the candidates can be found in abundance in their statements and advertisements found elsewhere in this paper.

While the candidates are at odds on many issues, they all agreed today on one thing — the necessity of every voter casting his ballot.

"Regardless for whom you vote, be sure and exercise your right to vote," Battye said.

Mayor Green stated: "I hope that each and every one of the polls Tuesday, April 11, to registered voters will see fit to go to the polls Tuesday."

The Daly City Record will have the tabulation of votes by Wednesday noon. However, those who wish to find out earlier, may do so by being in the city clerk's office Tuesday evening, when the votes will be counted.

Also, as soon as the results are in, they will be flashed on the screen of the Daly City Theatre, Dan Anderson, manager, said today.

Following is a complete list of polling stations. For the most part, the one closest to your home is the place to vote. If in doubt, call the city clerk's office, JUniper 5-3184.

Polling stations will be located at 365 Bellevue, 196 Irvington, Co. 4 Firehouse (Peoria and Roosevelt), 150 Crocker, 40 Mission Circle, 198 Hillcrest drive, Hanson garage (Vista Grande between Miriam street and San Diego avenue).

Co. No. 2 Firehouse (Parkview avenue and Santa Barbara avenue), 374 Woodrow, Co. No. 6 Firehouse (160 Werner), 191 Hillside boulevard, 506 Hillside boulevard, 121 Price street, Ladies Home Club (23 Werner), 69 Cliffside, 100 Citrus.

Note — Westlake residents may vote at the aforesaid mentioned address — the Pinney residence, 69 Cliffside.

FAMILY OF SIX CHILDREN FACE EVICTION, SEPARATION --- HELP THEM

The wolf, not the Easter bunny, will greet the six children of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mone, 57 Gambetta, Sunday as they are to be evicted from their home the following day.

Almost destitute, and without a place to go, the Mone family is desperately in need of a new home. Certainly, there are plenty of apartments and houses available, but their high rents are completely beyond the salary of Mr. Mone, who only last week got a job.

"My husband is only making $40 a week, and by the time you feed six children, it doesn't leave much for rent," Mrs. Mone said.

Mrs. Mone noted they were able to get two housekeeping rooms, but this will mean putting the children out in foster homes. Children, ranging in age from 4 to 14 must have adequate space, and two rooms just aren't enough.

Happily unaware of the disaster that is ahead, the youngest of the children played in the front room of the Gambetta home.

"I don't want to give up any of them, but what can I do?" Mrs. Mone pleaded. "It isn't fair to the youngsters to make them live like animals."

Asked why they were being evicted, Mrs. Mone replied that the landlord was almost as desperate in need of a place to live as her family. She said he had been "decent," and no blame could be put on his shoulders.

Coming to Daly City last November, Mr. Mone started a photography business. However, with six hungry mouths to feed, a business has to begin making a profit within a few days.

Unfortunately, Mr. Mone couldn't find enough customers, and he was forced to give up all his photography equipment. Now he has a job servicing candy machines. But until he can get "back on his feet," the Mone family can't afford to pay high rentals.

"At one time we owned our own home, but the payments were too high, and we couldn't keep them up," Mrs. Mone recalled. "With the high rents we've had to pay, it's been almost impossible to keep enough food in the house to feed my children."

Another problem the family faces is that one of their younger daughters has heart trouble. As they have not lived in San Mateo county long enough to get county aid, the family must consult a private doctor.

"It's hard, but I'm sure there must be a way out," Mrs. Mone confidently said.

The Daly City Record would like to think that Mrs. Mone is right. Won't you help?

If you, or your friends, have a house or rooms where the Mone family may move after April 10 please call them at JUniper 5-9345, or the Record office at JUniper 7-4321.

And as the family is in need of money, contributions to assist them will be accepted at the Daly City Record office, 3317 San Jose avenue.

Unless your help is forthcoming immediately, the six Mone children will find themselves not only without a home, but possibly without the care and love of their parents.

And one more thing, Mrs. Mone did not come to us for help. Her name was given us by a local businessman who wishes to remain anonymous.

DOLLS TO BE GIVEN AWAY AT THE MARDI GRAS

Holding one of her prize dolls is Mrs. Charles M. McDougal, 18 Garwood drive. Mrs. McDougal has spent the last few weeks dressing the dolls which will be given away at the Court St. Mary No. 1155, CDA, Mardi Gras, April 20. Each of the dresses is hand made, and takes from one to three hours to produce. (Photo by Myra)

Costumed Dolls Of Historical Periods Featured At Mardi Gras, April 20

Dolls by the score are to be given away to some lucky people who attend the Daly City Mardi Gras, April 20 at the Masonic Hall, 17 Hillcrest drive.

The celebration is being staged this year by members of Court St. Mary No. 1155, CDA.

Each of the dolls has been dressed in some period costume by Mrs. Charles McDougal, 18 Garwood drive, treasurer of the Court.

Using scrap materials donated by other members, Mrs. McDougal works from one to three hours to turn out a lovely dress for one of the many dolls. She is an expert on fashion, and has managed to deck out the dolls in costume pieces ranging from the 16th century through the 20th century.

Also working on the Mardi Gras today are other ladies of the Court who are planning for booths and a wide variety of entertainment. The ladies hope to decorate the hall in the style of the famous New Orleans Mardi Gras.

All proceeds from the affair are to be used by the Court for its many charitable enterprises.

Gensel To Seek School Board Position

D. C. Gensel, 188 Acton, today announced he will be a candidate for the position of trustee on the Jefferson elementary school board.

He is the second to enter the "race," which will be decided at the polls May 19. The only other candidate is Mike Callan, incumbent. Those wishing to file for the position have until April 19.

Giant Vaudeville Show Featured By Lions May 2

Revamping their original plans for an amateur show, May 2, the Daly City Lions club announced today the show will feature professional acts.

Included in the big one and a half hour show will be 10 vaudeville performers, all from the national circuit, in addition to three local amateur acts. And for the pleasure of all, the Lions have even promised a chorus line filled with beautiful gals.

But that isn't all. Daly City Theatre manager Dan Anderson, said he hopes to get a first run "sneak preview" of a Class A movie for the occasion.

The show will be held in the Daly City Theatre and tickets are now available from any Lions member.

A complete list of all the performers will be published in next week's Record. However, it has been revealed that among the acts will be a magician, a song birds, acrobats, and all the features that made vaudeville famous.

All money from the show is to be used by the Lions to assist in juvenile work in the community.

Council Considers Bonfire Ordinance At Monday Meeting

There may be new faces on the city council next week, but the same five men will meet Monday for a regular council meeting.

At this pre-election meeting, the principal business before the council will be consideration of an ordinance to forbid outdoor burning of rubbish except between the hours of 7 a. m. and 10 a. m. Wednesday and Saturday.

All those interested in this pending law are requested to be present.

Also of importance will be the opening of bids for grading work at Marchbanks and Edgewood Parks. This is the first major step in the new parks program for Daly City.

Bids for a deep well turbine pump will be opened. In addition, the council will award contracts for pipe to be used for water along the length of Junipero Serra boulevard. Bids on this latter job were opened at the last council meeting, March 27.

Band Must Have New Members, Or Disband

New players are urgently needed for the Daly City Band, if that group is to continue to play, George Brenner, bandmaster, announced today.

Many former members have graduated from high school, leaving the band, Brenner said. Consequently the organization must be reorganized to bring it up to playing strength.

Persons who can play the following instruments are wanted: clarinet, flute, saxophone, trombone, baritone basses and drums.

Brenner hopes that many of the new Daly City-Broadmoor-Westlake residents will join the band.

"We maintain one of the finest libraries of standard band music on the Pacific Coast," Brenner noted. "This is an opportunity for those with previous experience to continue playing."

Weekly rehearsals are held each Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Fire Station No. 5, Oliver street and Bellevue avenue.

During the past 25 years the band has appeared at many important events in the Bay area, and won prizes and honors throughout the state.

Aware of the importance of the band, the city council has promised to provide a fine rehearsal hall when the new War Memorial building is finished, Brenner asserted.

Furthermore, plans are being made to furnish the band with new uniforms.

All those interested in joining this fine organization are asked to contact Brenner at PR 5-6043, or at the Tuesday night rehearsals.

Only Claimant To Smith Reward Can Not Qualify

In an advertisement in this paper last week, H. H. Smith Sr. offered a reward of $500 to anyone who could produce evidence that he was ever "crooked" in public, or private life.

Only one "claimant" has come forward for the reward, Smith reported today. He is Fred Confer Sr., 1876 Arch street, Berkeley.

Confer met Smith last spring at a resort, where the two men became friends, Confer, Smith believes, is a commercial artist.

Following is the letter written last Friday by Confer:

Dear Sir:
"I wish to make claim to the $500 offered by you to the person who can prove that you were ever crooked."

"I met you and your ever loving wife at Grigsby's Springs last spring, and at that time you told (Continued on Page 2)

Daly City Area Children To Search For 3,000 Eggs And Various Prizes

Another exciting Easter egg hunt gets underway in Daly City at 11 a.m. this Saturday, April 8. Youngsters from Daly City, Colma, Broadmoor and Westlake will search for some 3,000 eggs that have been distributed by the Daly City Recreation department.

In addition, many of the eggs will be marked to bring the lucky finder special prizes. The gifts range from toy banks to various kinds of puzzles.

This year the search has been divided into two sections.

The sections are split into the north and south, according to the schools in the area closest to the hunting sites.

Children in the north who attend Crocker, General Pershing or Our Lady of Perpetual Help, or who live near these schools will meet:

1. At the top of Templeton and Frankfort, for children age 5 and under.

2. At the top of Oliver street above Frankfort for children age 6 to 8, inclusive.

3. At the top of Whittier street above Frankfort for children age 9 to 12, inclusive.

Children in the south who attend Jefferson, Thornton, Woodrow Wilson, or Garden Village, or who live near these schools will meet:

1. At the top of Gambetta street at Wyandotte, for all age groups.

Street directions are sometimes confusing, so to clarify any doubt in anyone's mind, it should be noted that the site selected for the children in the south section, on Gambetta street, is in the foothills just north of Jefferson high school.

The site for children in the north section of the city will be in the foothills just in back of the General Pershing school between Templeton and Whittier, on Frankfort.

Meanwhile, the girls of Girl Scout Troops No. 16, 12, and 22 will help in the coloring of eggs this week. They will be under the supervision of Mrs. Heagney.

Girls in Troops No. 22, 12, and 3 will work on the hiding of eggs on the south side site, under the supervision of Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Thur and Mrs. Saarinen, respectively.

Scouts in the north section of the city will be under the supervision of Mrs. Larson.

At the Easter meeting last week at the city hall, the following committees were set up and these assignments accepted: Coloring of eggs, Mrs. Heagney, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Thur and Mrs. Kennedy; prizes, Mrs. Ennis, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Schroeder; hiding of eggs, north section, Mrs. Larson, south side, 5-and-under group, Mrs. Kennedy, 6-8 group, Mrs. Thur, 9-12 group, Mrs. Saarinen; supervision chairman, Mesdames Schmidt, Eason, Ennis, Schroeder, Blanco and Adams.

CLUB MEETING APRIL 12

Everyone Interested In Reorganizing Daly City Boys Club Invited To Attend

DeLeon Music Concert April 19 For D. C. Boys Club

Daly City residents, here is your opportunity to enjoy two good things in one evening. Enjoy a concert at the De Leon Music store, 6127-29 Mission street, April 19 at 8 p.m., and that warm feeling that comes to us when we do something that helps someone else.

De Leon is giving the concert in honor of the Daly City Boys Club, and all who are interested in music are invited to attend. Those interested in boys are asked to donate anything they like toward the reorganization of the club.

The program will consist of vocal and instrumental numbers by high school students. There also will be numbers by a small school band. The versatile De Leons, father and sons, will be on the program and possibly some outside talent, as well.

The concert is free, and the space isn't too large, so come early for best seats.

Two Children Struck By Car While In Crosswalk

Two children narrowly escaped serious injuries Monday afternoon when, walking across Mission street at Hillcrest drive, they were struck by an automobile.

The youngsters were crossing with the green light, when Harry O'Neil, 317 Fourth street, San Francisco, allegedly ran the light and hit them in the crosswalk.

Thrown to the pavement by the force of the blow, both children suffered only minor injuries, Juniper 7-4321.

Flying Saucers Make Local Debut, April 15

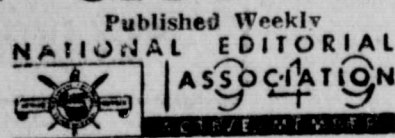

At long last, the secret of the fabulous "Flying Saucers" will be revealed in Daly City, Saturday, April 15.

During the course of the afternoon, thousands of the "saucers" will fly over the community. In fact, many of them will land. Here is an opportunity to see the most puzzling phenomena of the 20th century.

HATS OFF!

Congratulations to the men of the Daly City Fire Department.

Their fast, efficient job of fire fighting checked a blaze at Crocker School last week which might have been much more costly in both property and life.

While the hose hoisters don't like to consider themselves a volunteer department, all of the members turn out on a part-time basis. They spend many hours of grueling practice, preparing for such an emergency as presented itself last week. And their only compensation, outside of a small monetary return, is the satisfaction of knowing they are helping the community.

And while not a member of the department, Miss Marjorie Tobias, Crocker school principal, is also to be praised for her quick thinking which possibly saved the lives of her 320 charges. Seeing smoke curling from a ventilator, she calmly rang the alarm, giving no indication to the children that it was no more than a regular fire drill.

Daly City can well be proud of its fire department and cool-headed school officials.

FASHION AND A BOYS CLUB

The latest in teen-age fashions was the greatest single reminder today why a Boys Club is so badly needed in Daly City.

With surprising frankness, boys in the community are displaying belts decorated with automobile insignias. The markers have been stolen off the bumpers and grilles of cars in Daly City.

Operating at night, the lads pry the medals off with a knife or screw driver, often badly scratching the machine's finish. To date none of the "fashion" thieves have been caught, primarily because many motorists fail to lodge a complaint with the police.

And why this fad? Frankly, we don't believe it has much to do with fashion. Actually, the boys, now deprived of a decent place to play, are turning their energy toward a mild form of crime which they believe both smart and daring.

One way to stop this latest outbreak of juvenile delinquency, which may lead to more serious acts, is through a Daly City Boys Club.

If you are interested in helping, let us know by calling the Daly City Record, JUniper 7-4321.

STAY AT HOME VOTERS

Readers of this paper need not be reminded that there is a city election next Tuesday, but we wonder how many of the readers are going to vote.

There are some 6,000 registered voters in Daly City. Of this number, approximately one-half will stay at home.

The population of Daly City is now estimated to be close to 14,000.

Using these figures, we may assume that a little more than one-fifth of the residents will have an active part in electing three city councilmen.

Call it what you will, this is rule by the minority. Of course, the majority is given a chance to choose, but lack of interest, inertia on their part, plays right into the hands of the minority.

It is these "stay at home" voters who defeat the basic tenets of democracy.

Everyone wants the "people's choice" elected. Let's see the three men elected April 11 are really the choice of the majority, and not put in by an interested few.

Get out and vote next Tuesday.

BAND NEEDS MEMBERS

One of Daly City's loudest, most effective advertisements may soon be a thing of the past.

We speak of the Daly City Band, a group that for the past 25 years has "sung" the praises of this fair community the length and breadth of California.

George Brenner, bandmaster, reports this week the size of the band has shrunk to a point where they can't make much more noise than a giraffe with a cold.

Only one thing can save the band... new members.

Whether you play the drums, or blow a mean melody on a flute, you are badly needed as a member of the band. There are no qualifications to join the band, except a fair ability to play.

Those interested in saving one of Daly City's truly great institutions are asked to call Brenner at PR 5-6043.

"I have three children in General Pershing school and one child in Crocker school. I am interested, of course, in securing the best schools and teachers possible for all of our children.

"I served in the U. S. Navy from August, 1923, continuously to December 7, 1945, at which time I retired to civilian life. My occupation is radio parts salesman for a downtown wholesale radio store. Regarding Child Welfare Centers

It has come to my attention that there is talk of closing up the child welfare centers in San Francisco.

I am writing to your paper and hope through its medium this will get to thousands of readers. I have already written this same type letter to Senator Gerald O'Hara.

These centers are very important for the one-parent situation especially where there is a limited income. There is a lot of child delinquency in this city and there will be much more if children are allowed to roam the streets while their parent is away working during the day. Most of these parents cannot afford a boarding school. Most of them cannot afford to pay people by the day to look after their young ones. The rates are too high and many of these people do not have any close relatives or friends willing to take the responsibility, so what is the parent to do if the life-saving child welfare centers are closed up?

This is something that should be taken care of at once. That is the reason I have appealed to Senator O'Hara and your newspaper, to do something before it is too late.

Our children are the future Americans and as stated before, while they cannot have the right supervision by their parents during the day, at least they have good supervision at the child welfare centers.

Yours very truly,
MURIEL SMITH

a bad idea, but it looks like it will mean hiring more officers. And, by the way, where is the sheriff's office? Why are "sloppy" shooters given free reign on the beach which is used every week end by scores of Daly City residents?

Communism may be popular in Russia, but it isn't making much headway in San Mateo county. Only one lone voter has registered under the red banner... but then, Joe's boys don't believe in the ballot box when there is any opposition. By the by, there are 52,675 registered Democrats, 44,937 Republicans, and 4,202 non-partisan voters in the county, according to W. H. Augustus, county clerk.

Hearts Department — A well-known local lady came to this office last week with a $5 bill. "I'd saved this to buy an Easter bonnet, but I think the Boys Club can make better use of it," she explained.

Destitute and alone, a Daly City family of six children was given a helping hand by an anonymous contributor Tuesday. He gave us $20 to buy the family some badly-needed groceries. The only stipulation of the contribution was that we not mention his name.

Handing us a $1 bill, a 11-year-old boy gave the Daly City Boys Club another monetary boost. He'd saved the money for a baseball, but figured it would work for the betterment of the community, in the Boys Club.

Just for the record, we'd like to report on a "mental marathon" now being run, although mostly off at the mouth, by one Jon Christopher, confessed columnist for a San Francisco shopping news.

There seems to be little hope today that Jon will ever break the tape. He and his soap box get side-tracked so often that his "mental wheels" have become rusty from inactivity.

Last week, desperately behind the other runners, he stopped long enough to scream that the man in front wasn't running properly, wasn't using the proper style.

But the gist of his diatribe was a bit confusing. First, he asserted the opposition was printing only local news, ignoring state and national issues. Then, after becoming quite heated over rules and regulations established 50 years ago, he wound up by accusing the other paper of printing "reams" about state affairs. Since when were the activities of state politicians only a local event?

So, weep a tear for poor Jon. Perhaps he'd make better time on his "mental marathon" if he'd stop yapping and get down to serious running of his own belabored sheet.

Attacks Gambling

Proctor Jones, candidate for San Mateo county sheriff, this week strongly attacked the proposition to legalize gambling in California.

The proposition has been authorized on the November ballot.

Jones also urged all other candidates for peace officer posts to take a similar stand against the measure. He said:

"Organized crime syndicates are undoubtedly active behind this measure. They hope to bring in wide open gambling and make the State of California a partner.

"The measure has been thinly disguised as an initiative to raise funds for aged and blind payments," he added. "I am in hearty accord with adequate pensions for our elder citizens, but I am firmly against anything that will open the doors of this state to hoodlums and racketeers."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

This week several people in Daly City were asked:

"Do you believe the city should install parking meters in the business section?"

Ernest Harkins, 329 Hillside boulevard — It's too hard to park now, without putting in parking meters. I'm against any such action.

D. J. Coyn, 117 Westdale drive — I'm in favor of the meters as a method of clearing up the traffic congestion on the hill. If meters were installed it would give everyone an even break, and no one could park in one place all day long.

Van Woodward, 300 Citrus — I can't see where parking meters would do anything but make the parking situation worse.

Tulio Picchi, 36 Bismark street — Parking meters are a good idea. They should be installed, and operated like the ones in San Francisco.

B. K. Streeter, 125 Hillside boulevard — Sure, I'm in favor of parking meters. They would stop all-day parking. I don't see where a meter operating with pennies could hurt anyone, and it would do a great deal of good.

Manuel Bishop, 736 Niantic — Yes, I'm in favor of meters. It sounds like a good idea to me.

G. E. Meiner, 42 Wilson — No, I can't see where parking meters are necessary. However, I don't have a car.

Mrs. Joe Saccheri, 269 Peoria — Yes, I'm in favor of meters, as it seems to be they would relieve the parking congestion in the business district.

James C. Aldona, 282 Whittier — I'm opposed to parking meters in the vicinity.

Jack Swanson, 2169 Junipero Serra boulevard — We need the meters, so people can find a place to park and shop.

Mrs. Alex Saccheri, 161 Alexander — I'm in favor of meters, as they would provide me with a place to park my car when I'm shopping.

pero Serra hospital authorities report today.

Injured were Kathleen Martin, 256 Los Banos, and George Baptista, 120 DeLong, San Francisco.

Taken to the hospital, Kathleen was treated for slight contusions and bruises, while George suffered a minor contusion of his left ear.

O'Neil was cited for failure to stop at a crosswalk, and will appear in police court today, April 6.

"Organized crime syndicates are undoubtedly active behind this measure. They hope to bring in wide open gambling and make the State of California a partner.

"The measure has been thinly disguised as an initiative to raise funds for aged and blind payments," he added. "I am in hearty accord with adequate pensions for our elder citizens, but I am firmly against anything that will open the doors of this state to hoodlums and racketeers."

Binsacca Explains Why He Will Not "Run"

I originally announced my intention to seek the office of county superintendent of schools because for years it has been known generally to educators in the State of California that any qualified educator with administrative experience and credentials could file for the election and run.

I was amazed, however, to find that an unusual piece of state legislation was quietly put over a few years ago which made it virtually impossible on short notice for anyone except an incumbent county superintendent of schools to qualify as a candidate. A new special credential freshly issued since 1947 is required to get elected.

In San Mateo county, it is my understanding that the assistant superintendent has been provided in advance with this special credential and hence, the present regime in the office can be perpetuated. I doubt whether more than a few other persons in the county today are qualified.

San Mateo county is one of only 16 counties in this state where such a special credential is even required for election. The superintendent of our county and fifteen others were presented with the credential as part of this special legislation.

In discussing this matter with educators over the state, I have found that few, if any, school authorities were aware of the details of this situation. I am sure that most of our citizens and teachers had no inkling of these facts and the implication to our county.

I could possibly, under trying conditions, make special preparation and obtain this credential by election time, but in view of the fact that James R. Torney, one of my colleagues in county administration and an able educator can qualify and has announced his candidacy, I am withdrawing from the race in his favor.

It is my belief that the schools are the foundation of American democracy and fundamentally democratic policies should be demonstrated there above all places.

The schools must be geared to the wishes of the public, and I believe that Mr. Torney is the type of man, with the proper qualifications, training and experience, to forcefully conduct the county superintendent's office with the full cooperation of the other school authorities in the county without friction or controversy.

Signed,
VICTOR G. BINSACCA

'DALY CITY IS HOTBED OF BOOKIE ACTIVITIES'

DR. S. J. GUARDINO, CHAIRMAN OF THE GRAND JURY'S LAW ENFORCEMENT COMMITTEE, TODAY CHARGED THAT DALY CITY IS A "HOTBED OF BOOKIE ACTIVITIES" AND CERTAIN "PUBLIC OFFICIALS" ARE IN ON THE PAYOFF.

About 30 bookies and one "wholesale dice gambling operation" have been operating in Daly City wide open, Dr. Guardino charged.

"It's a disgrace to the city and to the county," he declared.

DR. GUARDINO SAID THAT HE WOULD CONFER WITH DIST. ATTY. LOUIS B. DEMATTEIS AND WITH MEMBERS OF THE GRAND JURY AND THEN LAUNCH A FULL-DRESS INVESTIGATION.

"DALY CITY HAS BEEN A HOTBED OF BOOKIE ACTIVITIES EVER SINCE I HAVE KNOWN," DR. GUARDINO SAID. "UP TO YESTERDAY THERE HAVE BEEN ABOUT 30 BOOKIES OPERATING THERE."

"I ASSUME THAT THEY'LL BE CLOSED DOWN TODAY."

"CERTAIN PUBLIC OFFICIALS OF DALY CITY HAVE BEEN TAKING A PAYOFF FROM BOTH THE BOOKIES AND THE DICE GAME," DR. GUARDINO CHARGED.

VISION OF THE CROSS

A great stone cross rises from the rugged peak of a lofty mountain, and pious people often journey there to pray. As some devout women prayed, the cross suddenly seemed to be transfigured, and a bleeding figure appeared stretched upon its stony surface.

The suppliants stared in wonder, but the drooping figure lifted its head and said softly:

"I suffered much for thee."

The vision vanished and the devout women went away strengthened in mind and soul. They had seen a vision of the Christ.

People who suffer for others are too often unappreciated. We do not see them in our visions and dreams. Yet millions of lives have been redeemed or have been blessed and strengthened because somebody loved them and suffered for them.

The Cross—glorified by Jesus—is the symbol of this suffering too. For those who bear the burdens of others, and suffer for their sakes, are His brethren and partakers of His sacrifice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OH, OH, OH, YOU BEAUTIFUL DOLL

Busy at the less assiduous duties of a housewife, Mayor Paul Green is getting in practice for "Dear Wife" day in Daly City, April 19. At that time, by official proclamation, the little woman is to be given a rest, and the man of the house is to assume the duties of the staff side. But for those gents who are unable to help around the house, they will have a chance to observe "Dear Wife" day at the Daly City Theatre, where they stand a chance of winning gifts galore.

Emancipation Proclamation Hits Home; "Dear Wife" Day Coming April 19

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Wednesday, April 19 is officially proclaimed "Dear Wife" day in Daly City. The Daly City Theatre management, cooperating with city officials and local business men, has taken it upon itself to recognize at long last, the staff side.

Aware that the "little woman" is a slave to husband and family 364 days out of the year, the Daly City Theatre hopes to emancipate her for this one day.

While the management doesn't advocate the dear wife forget the dishes, house cleaning, preparing meals, or other light tasks that makes her lot such a happy one, it hopes to give her a few hours of rest Wednesday night.

On that evening the theatre invites all husbands to bring the little woman to the film, "Dear Wife." During the course of the entertainment one lucky couple will be given various gifts guaranteed to bring happiness to any wife, or husband, for that matter.

The complete list of these gifts will be published in next week's Daly City Record. However, indications are they will include movie passes, a dinner in Daly City's best eating house, flowers, jewelry, and sundry other items.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Evensen Mark Fifty Years Of Marriage Bliss

"Give and Take" is the golden rule prescribed for a happy, long marriage by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Evensen, 51 Wilson street, who celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary, March 10.

The 70-year-old couple observed that while they have had a few "spats" during their 50 years of marriage, no serious arguments have ever arisen.

There wasn't even an argument as to how they should mark their anniversary. They both agreed to take a brief trip to Eureka.

"We would have held a party, but we have too many friends," Mr. Evensen noted. "Lived here 48 years, in the same house. Wouldn't have had room for everyone."

During most of those years, Mr. Evensen was the superintendent of the San Francisco branch of the United States medical department warehouse. He retired from that position in January of 1945.

But even before going to work for the government as a civil employee, Mr. Evensen spent 18 months in an army uniform; it was during the Spanish-American War, and the white-haired gentleman remembers that he arrived in the Philippines just a few days after Dewey punctured holes in the Spanish fleet.

After three months in the islands, Mr. Evensen returned to San Francisco and the arms of his bride-to-be.

Mrs. Evensen, a native of San Francisco, recalls that she met her husband through her brother. The two boys played together, and when she was 14 years old she'd decided on a husband.

"There wasn't much I could do," Mr. Evensen said. "When I got out of the army, there she was. We got married, and did it on little more than love."

However, before too long, the money started to come in, and Mr. Evensen dutifully turned it over to his wife.

"Let the woman handle the money," Mr. Evensen advised. "It's always worked with us. Why, today we have two houses and are well off, and I owe it all to my wife."

Soon the Evensens' only child, Arthur, was born, and the family was on its way to marital bliss.

Along the 50-year path, Mr. Evensen, a native of Norway, managed to become a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, Court of San Francisco No. 10 (he joined the court in 1915); a charter member of Nelson A. Miles Camp No. 10, United Spanish War Veterans; a member of Victory Lodge No. 474, F&AM.

Mrs. Stevenson had had time from her housekeeping duties to join the Golden Gate Companion Court of the IOF; the Crocker Chapter No. 382, OES, and a charter member of Nelson A. Miles Auxiliary No. 1.

R. Galladay; publicity, Mrs. James Mayer; purchasing, Mrs. Philip Diltz; program, Mrs. Alice Detweiler; registrar, Mrs. Cecil Saarinen; sanitation, Mrs. Mary Larson; sites, Mrs. Marie Miller; transportation, Mrs. Frieda Cady.

Girl Scout Scoops

TROOP 12 is certainly doing a fine job for the Scoop column. Today we have two articles written by Donna Hiett, scribe, and also another article by Ann Cheatham, who has appeared here before.

Thank you, girls, for your cooperation — BUT keep writing.

To all other troop scribes or interested girls let me repeat—write or call in your articles at any time. We need your troop's news and views.

Just remember — Mrs. Charles Keith, 118 East Vista avenue. Telephone number — JUNIPER 4-3576. I am there to help — so use me!

TROOP 12 SELLS COOKIES

By Donna Hiett, scribe, Troop 12
Troop 12 was very successful in the recent Girl Scout Cookie Sale. We sold 432 boxes of cookies. All the girls worked very hard, but had fun doing it.

The Girl Scout troops got a two-cent bonus from each box they sold. The rest of the money, after expenses were paid, went to help pay for Camp Wasibo — the summer camp for Girl Scouts.

Camp Wasibo is where I want to go this summer and I am buying my camp stamps so I will be able to go.

TROOP 12 WORKS ON BADGES

By Ann Cheatham

The Girl Scouts have been working on their second class badges. Tuesday, March 14, the girls held their meeting in Mrs. Pabst's back yard. Two girls laid trail signs in the back yard for the others to follow.

The girls who did not lay the signs studied and worked up the names of flowers.

Mrs. Pabst has invited the girls to come and barbecue in her back yard when the girls can plan a date.

TROOP 12 MAKING FRIENDSHIP BAGS

By Donna Hiett, scribe

The girls in Troop 12 are making "Friendship Bags." There were eight girls at the meeting Tuesday and we were working on our sewing.

Our leaders, Mrs. Heagney and Mrs. Thur, have been working with us and helping us to make the bags.

We are going to fill the bags with pencils, crayons, tablets, pins and other things that the children in Europe could use. We hope that they will all enjoy the Friendship bags.

Each girl may put her name and address in the bag and hope to make a penpal across the sea.

Next week we will have the third of Mrs. Hickey's articles on the leadership course she is taking. Really good work, Mrs. Hickey!

This week members of Brownie Troop No. 15 were busy coloring Easter eggs for hospital patients.

Last week the girls made spatter paintings for Easter cards. During the meeting, they also celebrated the troop's birthday by going to fun house.

Meanwhile, two girls, Maureen McGraw and Donna Iverson, are ready to fly up, and go into intermediate scouting.

Those girls interested in filling the two vacancies in the troop are asked to call DE 3-0439, or attend the meeting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Girl Scouts of Troop No. 1 went

Mrs. Enes Ciardella Marks Birthday, April 13

Celebrating her first birthday in the state of marital bliss, April 13, will be Mrs. Enes Ciardella, the former Enes DeFanti, 598 Winchester.

Mrs. Ciardella isn't revealing the number of candles on her birthday cake, but chances are they won't be covering up too much of the icing. The Daly City woman changed her name August 21, when she became the wife of a well-known local gentleman, Elio Ciardella.

The nation also will be observing another birthday April 13. On that day, in 1743, Tom Jefferson was born.

Teachers of the Jefferson elementary school district last week attended a demonstration and work shop meeting at Thornton school.

Mrs. California Winter, art materials consultant west coast division of the Melton Bradley Company, conducted the two meetings. The Monday afternoon group heard a talk on the importance of teaching art in the schools with current ideal and objectives with particular emphasis on creation expression.

Mrs. Winter then demonstrated the use of various art media, finger painting, water color painting, tempera, plastiline, wood block printing, together with an explanation for their use in our schools. The Tuesday afternoon meeting was a workshop type where the teachers worked with all the media presented in the previous day's demonstration.

Arrangement for these meetings were made by Mrs. Pauline Kagan, art supervisor of the local school district.

Letter To The Editor

A Citizen Expresses Election Views

Dear Mr. Bradshaw,

I would appreciate space in your paper to express some of my opinions and those of my husband in respect to our country in general, as well as on the Daly City election campaign.

Every two years as the people of our city go about the job of selecting representatives for our government—in other words, doing politics, I try to reconcile the manner in which it is done with the manners and behavior of people in ordinary life, but each time fail to come up with any solution of why, when people engage in politics, they so often forget their everyday behavior, principles and manners.

It has been said of me that I am not for progress, but that I assure you is not true. I've always dedicated myself to the ideals that help to better conditions and situation at hand. I was brought up to give more than I received and, if possible, more than was expected of me. I was brought up to stand steadfast to principle, regardless of the consequences to oneself. We all, at one time or another, listen to all those beautiful creeds that are performed before and after meetings. We listen to sermons on the fine principles of life, and our comments after the services indicate the uplift we received there. Yet Monday morning we all go back and pick up our old cloak of thoughtlessness, inconsideration, unfairness, uncharitableness and what not. We seem to have already forgotten what we reasoned was the fine way to live and the nice things to do. We are swayed too easily.

Political Change

In no activity in which the people engage in this entire change so noticeable as when we get into politics, so-called.

Of all the times in the world when it would seem so absolutely necessary and essential that all be fair, it is when they go about selecting their representatives in government, in order that the true principles of the type of government under which we live might be exemplified and the important work of selecting the best men possible to be had to conduct our country's business be accomplished. However, instead that is the time when so many people conduct themselves in a manner unbelievable as compared to what you find in their everyday life.

My mother used to tell me beautiful stories of Austria, but poor

Austria is not the same anymore. People have destroyed its true heritage. I don't want to see America lose her true heritage, the beautiful heritage our forefathers gave us seems to be worth fighting for with all that is in us. We have only one child to pass on and when we leave we want to feel that we have done the best we could to leave him ideals that will make this world a better world, not only for him but for everyone. We want a government founded on the wishes of the people and those wishes based on intelligent and fair presentation of all issues so that their decisions may be intelligent ones. This is the heritage we want to hang on to. How close do we come to conducting politics in just that manner? Is public office so important as to warrant anyone to try to gain it by other than fair and openhanded methods, honestly?

Takes Interest

As every good citizen should do, my husband and I have interested ourselves in our local city council election, and as we go about discussing the issues with our fellow citizens they tell us the most astounding stories, entirely at variance with, and in reality in most cases absolutely contrary to the truth, as we know it after our many years residence in this city.

Take, for instance, the remarks and the stories we are told about H. H. Smith Sr., a man who has lived in our community for a great number of years and with whom my husband has been associated in various capacities for about 25 years and whom I have known personally for 10 years. Most of the stories we hear in respect to this man we personally know to be absolutely false. Those of which we have no knowledge we have checked or asked those who tell us those stories to help us run them down and in each and every case the awful propaganda that has been spread for years about Mr. Smith is absolutely false and without foundation.

Any of his former business and political associates with whom we have conferred have unqualifiedly confirmed this, and one of them, a county official, who in those days was most helpful to Daly City, remarked, "Daly City should build a gold monument to Smith for what he has done for that city." Does that sound like what you usually hear?

Smith History

Mr. Smith came to Daly City, we are told, in 1908, shortly after the earthquake and fire in San Francisco—with nothing except faith and confidence in the future of this area. He has had the foresight, progressiveness, and intelligence to see ahead where many others failed to do so. He worked hard seven days a week, day and night, for his family, and Mrs. Smith was right there plugging along with him. Mr. Smith didn't sit idly by and wait for the community to develop of itself. Regardless of the great amount of his own work he had to do, he always found time to join in every movement that had for its purpose the progress and advancement of the community. He had the advantages that come with clean and sensible living.

He doesn't smoke, drink or gamble—neither has he excessively wasted his time in social functions, etc. A checkup shows that during a great number of years he was a member of and chairman of practically every organization in this area; that he was one of the first elected officers of this area, being elected fire commissioner in 1910; that he served 17 years as a volunteer fireman during which time he served as chief; that in connection with all his other activities he found time to interest himself in the poor and unfortunate (and there were many in those days) by serving seven years as a member of the County Social Service Commission, of which he was chairman at one time.

He also served as a member of the Planning Commission of the county, and in many other ways too numerous to mention.

He believed in Daly City, he liked Daly City, he spent over 22 years of his life as a public official, 18 years as our mayor and four years as chairman of the county board of supervisors, and found time to do a wonderful job in those positions, in addition to making a living for his family of five children, all of whom are now grown and one of whom is now a candidate for election to our city council. His two daughters, Edna and Irene, spent several years as teachers in our high school and elementary schools and no doubt their records speak for themselves.

Travesty on Justice

What an odd thing and what a travesty on justice that a man like Mr. Smith and his family should, especially at every election time, be subject to the scandalous, unfair, and absolutely untrue propaganda and stories unquestionably originated by those with selfish and political aims who realized there was no other way in which they could discredit a man of his stature and character.

That they have succeeded well in so doing we are convinced by the stories and propaganda we continued to hear.

There is an old saying that "it is the lead goose that is always picked out to be shot at" and another one, "a lie travels around the world while truth is putting its shoes on." Undoubtedly there is no place in the world where those two sayings are more applicable than here.

It is true that Mr. Smith has been successful, as far as we know in every venture that he has undertaken including the conduct of our city government for years. During his administration there was country-wide wonder and astonishment in the efficiency and low per capita cost of our city government. There was complete harmony and mutual confidence in all departments of the city government of which he was head.

I personally recall or have been reliably informed of his good work such as his intense efforts and success in having our present high school site selected when the people of Daly City were led to believe that $50,000 for 20 acres was robbery, graft, etc. So convincing was the propaganda started by those who couldn't get a commission out of the sale that the people of Daly City voted 3 to 1 against that site. The site was saved only by the practically unanimous approval votes of the outside areas. Of his good work and the opposition he overcame to have the State and San Francisco spend about $1,000,000 here to widen Market street to its present width. The opposition claimed it would spoil the city to widen the highway. The opposition he encountered in the establishment of our present garbage collection system, apparently the only one under that plan in the whole country.

Also, of his work in development of the present Marchbanks Park, the annexation of outside territory on the southern and western section of our city, of his leadership in bringing about a Catholic church in our city and foresight in tying up the present site years ahead for that purpose, of his generosity in making possible the present grounds and beautiful Catholic school, of his continual preaching that Daly City should provide more playgrounds, and which the people refused to heed, of the development of the present municipal water system, new reservoirs, etc., the Woodrow Wilson school site and his advice that the whole block should be bought at that time, and more recently, how he practically donated most of the property for the War Memorial site. You know he could have held back and made us pay.

Smith Unconcerned

While Mr. Smith and his family go about apparently unconcerned about the false position in which they are placed in the life and politics of our city, they evidently do so with the satisfaction of knowing that theirs is a work well done, we can't help but really feel ashamed that there has developed in our city over the years such an unfair, uncharitable and totally unbecoming attitude on the part of our people toward what we not only believe but know to be some of our finest and best citizens, Mr. Smith and his whole family.

May we suggest that there is still time before our decision is made as to whom we shall select for our city councilmen, and that all give serious thought to burying once and forever the disgrace and shame that should be ours, as part of the government of our great and glorious country, the manner in which politics is usually done in our city. The government of our great country and principles under which it is conducted can only be expected to be as great and as good as are the governments of our individual governmental units throughout the country.

Let's be fair, let's be kind, let's be truthful, let's be considerate in the presentation of our views. Let's be thankful that we live in this great and glorious country where the people determine who their representatives shall be and then if mistakes are made, let's sit down together next time and correct them.

We honor and revere our forefathers and the heritage which they left us—equal opportunity and fair treatment for all. We glory in the memories of such as Washington, Jackson and Lincoln, and we can't help but wonder if they would think that we appreciate what they left us if they are looking down now and then to Daly City and the manner in which we go about selecting the representatives to represent us in the great government and the great country they left us, this glorious United States of America.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. LYL INGERSOLL

An Open Letter To Daly City Voters

Dear Sir:

You are probably being deluged with all sorts of literature now that election time is here.

Have you considered the source of all this literature? Some comes from men now in office and some from new candidates.

There is stiff opposition between these two factions. You will no doubt vote for the men of your choice, which is as it should be.

My purpose in writing this letter to you public-spirited citizens is to convey a message to you that I feel should be heard. I am a taxpayer and resident of Daly City.

Some tell you none of the Westlake houses are on the city tax rolls. This is a misleading statement. The tract is not yet fully developed, and will be under construction for a long time to come. In November the city will begin to realize her share of the taxes.

Is that too long a time to wait, when for these many years that same land has been laying bare and overgrown with ragweed and other pollen-bearing weeds that reached so many of us, allergic to weeds?

That overgrowth is being destroyed by Henry Doelger in the section that was annexed, and instead of people moving out of Daly City they are moving in.

Think Well

Think, and think well of the many men with families and your sons employed in Westlake, coming home with a sizeable pay check. That is through the effort of the man who the opposition is trying in their own little way to persecute.

I have never been a candidate for office, or connected with a political group. I am a man who was in business here and went broke. I had to resort to any kind of honest work to support my two daughters and wife. I probably made a few enemies in my lost business, but let me say I made, I made a hundred friends.

I met Henry Doelger on terms of almost a beggar. He gave me the help and the lift that only a man with a real heart could give. He has helped me, as many others who have put their troubles before him.

Opponents of Westlake
There is only one thing to bear in mind, it seems the opposition is basing the election against the name of Westlake.

What we must do is vote for men who can and will live up to their promises. I, for one, will say that I support A. J. Gaggero, Paul Green and J. H. Kennedy. I'm sure these candidates are the men to do the job for you, and the city of Daly City.

Their interests are for a better city and a better government; for the increase of bigger population when the Westlake tract is completed. That, in itself, will up the value of your house.

When you go to the polls you are not going there to vote for Westlake, are you? No, you will go there to vote for the men you think will give you that which you feel is yours... a better form of government, a better progress of our city, and an honest promise.

Therefore, I urge you to go out and vote for your men to hold office. I am behind Gaggero, Green and Kennedy.

Colma Voters To Choose Two Councilmen; City Treasurer And City Clerk Tuesday

Colma's 130 registered voters will go to the polls April 11 to elect two councilmen, a city treasurer and a city clerk.

The only polling place in the area will be located in Colma's newly renovated city hall, Jewel and El Camino Real. The poll will be open from 3:30 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Seeking election to the council are: Earl Taylor and John Price, both incumbents. They are opposed by Raymond Ottoboni, a local florist.

And for the first time since he was elected in 1924, Henry Kempf, treasurer, will be opposed. His opposition is G. H. Parker, superintendent of the Salem cemetery.

The only unopposed candidate is City Clerk E. A. Weisenburger who has held the position since 1924.

As a single vote may decide the election one way or another, all registered voters were urged to cast a ballot next Tuesday.

Ferraris Elected Commissioner By 123 Votes

Armando Ferraris (incumbent), 23, Rt. 1, Box 386, Colma, was elected by a majority of nine votes Tuesday, to the position of police commissioner on the Broadmoor Police Commission.

He defeated Tom Jenkins, 29, 1148 Nimitz drive, who was the only other candidate in the election.

A record low of 242 voters turned out for the election. Of these 123 voted for Ferraris, 114 for Jenkins, and 5 for Vincent P. Murphy who earlier dropped out of the campaign.

There are a total of 1,733 registered voters in the area covered by the police commission. This includes Colma, Broadmoor and Garden Village.

The vote was the lowest in the history of the commission. Last year 20 per cent of the voters went to the polls, while the year before it was less than 15 per cent.

Two Bookie Raids This Week In Colma

While San Francisco turned the "heat" on San Mateo County deputy sheriffs were warming up in Colma with two bookie raids this week in that community.

The first arrest was made Tuesday at the Stumble Inn, where Clarence B. Petersen, 50, 863 Geneva avenue, was picked up. Scratch sheets, betting records and telephones were seized.

Then, just one day later, John Pesce, 43, 2785 San Jose avenue was arrested in a shack in a wreckage yard at 52 Clark street, Colma. Deputies said three phones were found in the shack, together with racing paraphernalia.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Walter Moore said today:

"We expect a large influx of bookies into the peninsula now that the heat is on in San Francisco. We'll knock them over as fast as they come in."

Daly City Woman Shoots, Kills Self After Row

Returning home from a house warming party early Sunday, Mrs. Ivy Wagner, 33, 35 Werner street, shot and killed herself, as her husband, Basil, was on his way to get officers to quell a quarrel.

When Daly City police arrived at the Wagner home they found Mrs. Wagner slumped on a sofa, a single bullet hole in her head. She clutched a .38 calibre revolver in her right hand.

On the back of a birthday card was a hastily scrawled note, "I can't stand to be beaten by anyone, Ivy."

Her husband, a carpenter, told police they had become involved in an argument and she had thrown a cocktail shaker at his head. He then went to the police station for help.

Police Chief W. W. Sunderland said today he believed the death was suicide, since ink on the suicide note card matched that on her hands. Paraffin tests indicated that her husband had not fired a gun.

The couple had no children. The body was removed to the Lasswell mortuary where plans were made to ship the remains to Ogden, Utah, for burial.

Make Use of Felt
Use felt from discarded hats for house slippers, a handbag, warm mittens for a school child. Grease spots come out of felt with dry-cleaning solvent—or the felt may be washed in mild, warm soapuds, though this takes out some stiffness. Felt may be stretched slightly, shrunk, or molded with steam and a hot iron, and sewed by hand or machine the same as cloth. Since there is no raveling, there is no need to finish seams.

Correspondents Wanted In Broadmoor, Colma, Garden Village
The "Daily City Record" wants correspondents in the BROADMOOR, COLMA and GARDEN VILLAGE areas. These part-time news writers are needed so this paper may better serve the readers in the aforesaid areas. It is preferred that correspondents be active in club and social work in their respective districts. Anyone interested is asked to contact the "Daily City Record" at 3317 San Jose Avenue, Daly City, or phone JUniper 5-3215.

Connecting Street Discussion Coming Friday, April 14

Some decision is expected to be reached Friday, April 14, on the proposed connecting street between Broadmoor and Westlake.

At that time the Jefferson elementary school board will meet with the county planning commission in Redwood City at 3 o'clock.

There was no hint today what the decision might be, although it appears almost certain that some street will go through. The commission has refused to abandon White street, which bisects property to be used by the Garden Village school for further development, unless a connecting street is approved.

The favored position for such a street is 300 feet east of White, north to the Westlake shopping center, thence northeast to the intersection of Highway No. 1 and Skyline boulevard.

Meanwhile, the Daly City fire department has gone on record in favor of such a street. A. J. Bodien, works superintendent, reported today. The department claims a road is necessary to facilitate fire protection of the two large housing areas.

Red Cross Quota Reached

Colma unincorporated, and Garden Village have gone over the top in the Red Cross drive, with a total of $1,200 collected.

This sum represents three-quarters of the quota for the entire greater Colma area. Still unreported today is Broadmoor and Colma incorporated.

Mrs. Margaret Pauline Brown, chairman of the drive, noted that the final report should be in by April 15, and she was confident both Broadmoor and Colma will swell the $1,200 to the all-over quota of $1,600.

Contribute Now To The Red Cross

With the Red Cross drive extended until April 15, Broadmoor American Legion Post No. 824 members urged all Broadmoor residents today to contribute.

Those who have not yet given to the Red Cross may do so by calling Arthur L. James, Plaza 5-0871.

Commander Flanagan said today that the Broadmoor quota had almost been reached, but there were still a few who had not contributed.

Juvenile Delinquency -- The Problem And Various Means Of Solution

This is the first of a series of articles on juvenile delinquency by Thomas Bocci Jr., local attorney and candidate for South San Francisco judge.

Every parent is urged to read this, and subsequent articles, if for no other reason than to become acquainted with the juvenile delinquency problem.

It is hoped that via these articles, residents will become more and more aware of the necessity of a Daly City Boys Club.

Following is the first article:

The implications of juvenile delinquency are a warning to parents all over America. The picture is not a pleasant one and this trend toward delinquency is causing great concern in every city of America.

Every youth craves for understanding, sympathy, and affection and if the parents remain indifferent to these important needs, the problems will become even more acute. There are too many parents today who are looking to outside causes, when their children get themselves into difficulty, instead of facing the fact that delinquency very often starts because the child has simply not received the security and affection, which was lacking in the home.

There are very few cases that have come before juvenile authorities in which the basic cause of the child's difficulty did not stem directly from the home. It's usually a question of indifference by the parents to the needs of their children. The parents must accept the responsibility for the guidance of their children. These parental obligations can't be passed on completely to the school or the church, because statistics show that delinquent acts are not very often committed between 9 o'clock and 3 o'clock, but after school hours.

I think that most parents are not aware that they are contributing to the delinquency of their children, when they find themselves too busy with activities outside the home. These parents often feel that once the child is of school age, he can pretty well take care of himself. This is a misconception.

tion which must be recognized by every parent. A child can never take care of himself without the security and affection and interest which he needs and wants from his parents.

If parents will recognize the fact that the home is the place for the child, the first step in the prevention of juvenile delinquency will have been made. But that alone is not sufficient. Interest in the home must be encouraged and interest in the home can only be maintained by making the home the focal point of the activities of their children. But this interest in the home may terminate of itself unless the parents become participants with their children in their activity.

It is necessary for the parent to be partners with their children in their many interests and activities, rather than just as mere supervisors. This is particularly true more so today than in times past. The medium of the theatre, radio and newspaper has emphasized crime, sex, and murder to such an extent that vigilance by the parents is a greater "must" today than ever before.

Juvenile delinquency is a parental disease, and can only be remedied by parental love, affection and understanding that all children require.

Cub Den No. 3 Has New Chief

Den 3, Cub Pack No. 84, has a new den chief today. He is Wayne Flansburg, scout from Scout Troop No. 84.

Wayne will be in charge of training the cubs in the work which will lead them to badges, and to scout work.

Meanwhile, plans were going ahead for the North District Annual "Cubarette," April 23. Members of Dens 2 and 4 are practicing their parts in the cartoon skit to be put on at the "Cubarette."

The two dens have combined efforts to show in pantomime the antics of "Little Abner and family, Dick Tracy, and Blondie. All of the cubs will wear the appropriate masks and costumes, and their act will be made clear through a running commentary.

Den 3 was also busy last week. On Saturday the boys paid a visit to Golden Gate park where they looked over the various exhibits. Present on the tour were Rod Chisholm, Edward Cyr, Don Branstetter, Bob Fies, William Spry and Barr Veniner.

Helpful Hints On How To Grow Your Own Trees

Fruit trees and shade trees, wind-breaks featured on a lawn can all be planted almost any day the soil is free from frost.

Evergreens and large ornamentals need balls of soil held about their roots. Maple, elm, oak, birch and lindens can be shifted "bare root." No delay should be permitted, as feeding roots dry out quickly.

First, dig a hole large enough to allow a natural spread of roots and allow a six-inch margin. Pile top soil to one side to use in filling in about roots. If soil is not very fertile, add peatmoss, compost, or well-rotted manure and a pint of balanced plant food, and mix well before using to refill hole. Count on carting leftover subsoil away later.

Depth of planting is most important. Use a trowel or straight-edge to gauge depth. Determine former level by soil stains on bark. Set tree a little low, spread roots and fill with fine soil.

Make certain the trunk stands erect. To offset roots lost, thin top one third. When hole is half-filled, pour in several pails of water. Jostle tree gently and pull it up to original level. Finish with dry soil, but leave area over roots shaped like saucer to catch rain.

If tree is over 7 feet tall, better cut it for the first year and mulch. Wrap bodies of smooth-barked trees to avoid sunscald for at least the first year.

Ants - - Gardener's No. 1 Enemy

Old timers know that to garden lovers, ants are not just busy little objects of nature to be admired for their industry and socialism.

For us they are a real menace, carrying plant lice, scale, and mealy bugs to all our choicest plants. You will have much less trouble with these other insects if you do everything in your power to get rid of the ants.

The garden without its quota of ant cups is one usually infested with every known type of pest. Orange trees can be kept quite clean by spreading a band of sticky material on the trunk, which will prevent the ants carrying the pests to the branches.

How To Maintain Interest In That Spring Garden

While spring brings most of us out into the garden for a few swipes at the soil and seeds, the real trick is to carry the enthusiasm through to summer and fall.

To help you maintain interest here are a few hints put forth by experts:

1. Along about the middle of April try to take in many nursery, arboretum, and garden sight-seeing shows as possible. It is a good idea to see a plant or shrub in bloom before planting it in your own garden.

2. If you want color in your garden in a hurry, or if you wish to plant some of the cool weather annuals which should have been sown earlier in the year, buy plants in flats at your nursery.

3. When cutting your lawn, remember that 1½ inches is considered the best height at which lawn grass should be cut.

4. Now is the time to plant those summer and fall bulbs: dahlia, tuberous begonia, tigridia, gladioli, montbretia, water lily, tuberose, agapanthus, canna, galtonia.

5. Vegetable seeds to be sown this month include: beans, beets, carrots, corn, cucumbers, melons, radishes, squash and tomatoes.

6. But as no garden will grow without the proper soil, fertilization is of prime importance. Most

Daly City Garden Club Members See Colored Movie On Growing Roses

Better prepared to grow bigger and better roses today are those members of the Daly City Garden Club who saw a movie on roses Tuesday.

The members met at the Horticultural Center of the City College of San Francisco where the California Spray Chemical corporation presented the film, "How to Grow Beautiful Roses."

Guest speaker of the day, Norvell Gillespie, was unable to attend. However, Julian A. Rice took his place as a representative of the corporation, and gave those present many tips on growing roses.

The movie shown was the first ever to be filmed for western climatic conditions. It was in natural color, with a musical sound track.

As the film was shown, Rice gave a running commentary on the various features shown on the screen.

Tips On Use Of Peat Moss

Peat moss is a good conditioner for most soils and is usually necessary for camellias and azaleas. The moss helps to loosen heavy soils, and provides a certain amount of humus, as well as excellent mulch for retaining moisture.

On the other hand, most peat mosses have little direct fertilizer value.

Except when used as a mulch, peat should be mixed with soil when planting. When dry, the peat should first be moistened before working it into the soil.

plants in the garden put on their most rapid growth as the ground thaws and the growth cycle starts again. Fertilizing is the trick of giving the plants a shot in the arm when the plant reaches its greatest rate of growth.

The movie started with fall cleanup and proceeded chronologically with fall planting, a demonstration of pruning techniques in the dormant season, dormant spraying for such rose pests as scale and rust.

Closely used to good advantage in showing the damage caused by common rose pests such as aphids, scale, rust, bristly rose slug and black spot.

The majority of the shots were taken in the rose garden of John Paul Edwards of Oakland, who is the "consulting roserian" and technical advisor of the movie.

YOUR DALY CITY GARDEN CLUB NEWS

By ELSIE M. GARRISON

The new home owner moves joyously into his new home with his head in the clouds and breathes a sigh of relief that at last his troubles are over. (Little does he know.)

No more putting up with that awful family upstairs — no more Fibber McGee closets — no more crowding his six-foot frame into a pull-down bed that was obviously designed for Lilliputians, five feet nine. But the greatest blessing of all to enjoy in the new domicile is the large lawn in front, the patio and the drying yard, and the garden flowers and trees.

He glibly points out these spots to dubious friends who with their own eyes see only sand, rock, hills, locks, a great many weeds, and sometimes a stray dog or cat. They nod politely and listen while the owner invites them "sometime soon" to come over for a barbecue. "We'll just spend a day out in the sun, old boy," and he fondly slaps his friend on the back, and goes on, his enthusiasm unabated. Now, here—

The Dawn

Many plans, many months later — there comes the dawn.

By this time, our friend has learned that all these things take time — and over-exertion on Sunday means black and blue Mondays. Besides the beautiful wife is not happy staying home all the time, following her spouse around with a broom and dustpan. "How can we get a garden quick?" she asks her mother in desperation.

Well, to tell the truth, everyone's garden is in a more or less transitory stage all the time—but there are a few short cuts that will yield results very quickly. To get rid of that flat look of a treeless yard, start grapes, wisteria or clematis on posts of peeled wood or pipe.

Later, when your new trees have reached shade-giving proportions, you can tell whether or not you want shade in that particular location. Then it is safe to invest in a tree that is a permanent asset, and you can junk the vines if you wish. A good trick is to start honeysuckle, which is pretty, hardy, and lends a nice odor. On wire mesh it will quickly form a temporary fence that may be needed for privacy, or to protect the plants and flowers you have started from seed.

If your backyard is level, it is not too hard a job to plant a lawn. The instructions come with every package of lawn seed. However, it might be pointed out that if you want good results do follow the instructions, and it will pay in the end. Putting in a second lawn is really a headache, and then, you may never get around to it.

Grass

If your yard is on a slope, hilly, rocky or odd proportioned, I advise you very strongly not to worry about getting "in" grass. Another common mistake is the urge to even up the yard, or to cut it up in little portions, doing out so much for this and so much for that.

You can take a clue from the charming little by-lanes in Golden Gate Park, from Sigmund Stern Grove, from the Chinese (or is it Japanese now) Gardens that the natural terrain of the yard has a great many possibilities. Little winding paths, bolstered by rock gardens, ice plant, wild flowers, resources at hand. Attractive steps can be hewn in the dirt or clay, and with the acquisition of an old log, crosscut saw, and two cans of cold beer, you may have one of those lovely sets of shallow steps, curved to your own taste simply by wetting the clay and pressing "slices" of log into the original design. You will have acquired a new acquaintance in the man next door, some extra advice, and a can be created out of the natural beautiful and practical addition to your yard at the same time. And at very little expense.

Expense

If your pocketbook has not reached the sagging stage (which will be unusual) and you do want to invest money, by all means have your nurseryman come out and plant some trees. His knowledge of horticulture and landscape gardening will guarantee the right type in the most attractive setting, and in the case of rock or clay substrata, you can see a hole must be filled with plant food, soil, etc., etc., so that the tree will enjoy a comfortable, healthy environment, which will result in a thing of beauty forever.

After the tree is planted and your man gives you the O.K., a very practical trick which will give you a lot of pleasure, is to build a tree box, which will entail the building of a brick, rock or wood foundation six to ten feet square around the base of the tree, and about two feet high, or as high as to be comfortable to rest on. It should be surfaced on top, with a plank twelve inches wide running all around like a picture frame, and in the case of hard materials, anchored to stakes driven deep in the ground.

This will make a gathering-around spot, whose informality stimulates good talk; a place for the kids to eat their lunch; a place where grandma can do a bit of light weeding, for, of course, the inside of the box will be filled with good dirt, and bedding plants, or anything you choose will beautify it. There are countless tricks with ornamental iron, old gates, and my pet, the lantern post, which when illuminated, creates an outstanding effect. So do investigate this type of garden, before you change the topography of your yard.

Step by Step

Back to our new home owner—he will realize the very step-by-step procedures which develop his home, are what makes his new house truly a home, and if he is wise he will keep his sense of humor with him at all times, and make what seems like petty annoyances into a game, so that in later days he can sit back and dreamily reminisce on the "fun" they had putting in the lawn, making the window boxes and planting the bulbs. The barbecue pit for the time being, may be your son's Boy Scout contribution, the "steaks," hot dogs, which the kids like better anyway.

The benches you build will give you more satisfaction than all the fancy terrace furniture that you can buy. These little things are the reason grandma insists on living, as the b.w. says, "in that convenient cottage, in that run down part of town." "It's my home," she says. And her sentiment is no less binding than her sons will be many years hence.

Potted Plant Care For Spring

While not everyone can enjoy a garden, the potted plant can bring spring to every home.

Here are a few tips on how to care for that favorite plant:

1. During the dry weather, plants should be sprinkled at least once a day. When it's cooler, plants can get along on three or four waterings a week.

2. Fertilizer, preferably in liquid form, should be applied once a month.

3. The pot itself can either be glazed, or clay. There is some controversy whether or not the glazed pot is better, but nothing definite has ever been decided.

4. As the plants grow they should be moved to larger pots. And taken in the rose garden of John Paul Edwards of Oakland, who is the "consulting roserian" and technical advisor of the movie.

Native Plants Grow Without Trouble Here

The desire for native and natural plants in the garden is growing, but few people know the many species suitable for ornamental use.

There are many California natives useful for ground covers, hedges, windbreaks, screens, and so on. These plants should not be just planted and forgotten, but treated with care, especially during the first summer after planting.

Most will tolerate extremes in soil texture if well drained, some pruning may be necessary, and the conditions under which the plant grows in nature should be considered when placing them in the garden. Most native plants require good drainage, many do not do well and are short-lived if overwatered, and a large number do not require summer watering after they are well started.

Following are some of the native plants which may be grown in this area with the least amount of trouble:

Trees — Madrone, a picturesque 50-footer with tiny bell-shaped flowers, red and orange berries; Redwood, moist, acid soil, in groups for background in large areas; Cypress, gray-green foliage, slender to 30 feet; Monterey Pine, endures clay and adobe, rapid growth; incense cedar, alone for accent.

Ground Covers — bearberry, a superb ground cover in sandy soil; Point Reyes Ceanothus, flowers light blue to lavender; Wild Buckwheat, rocky, sterile soils; Evergreen currant, dark green, small rose-colored flowers, fine for sunny well-drained areas.

Evergreen Hedges — Wild Cherry, foliage dark green, holly-like; Pacific Way myrtle, good for semi-moist conditions; lemonade berry, buds pinkish, late winter.

Flowering Accent Shrubs — Southern Freononia, evergreen, flowers large, golden-yellow spring and summer; Stanford Manzanita, stems smooth, dark red, foliage evergreen, glossy, flowers pink, urn shaped; Western Redbud, flowers magenta-colored, small, in early spring.

Low to Medium Fillers — Oregon grape; neviar barberry; holly leaf ceanothus, redberry.

Evergreen Tall Fillers — Summer Holly, leaves dark green, shining above, flowers small, white, urn-shaped; Carmel Ceanothus, leaves dark green, wrinkled.

Deciduous Shrubs — Spicebush, leaves with aromatic odor when crushed, flower reddish-brown, when crushed emitting odor of ripe strawberries; Douglas Spiraea, flowers numerous, rose-colored, in large dense clusters; American Dogwood, branches smooth, red to purplish.

Trim Spring Flowering Shrubs

Now, until the end of May, is the time to cut back all the shrub flowers of the spring flowering type.

The real pruning should begin while the faded flowers still hang. Two-thirds of the length of all branches that bloomed should be cut back.

As for hedges, trim just as the new growth starts. Then, at two-month intervals, cut twice more.

However, never prune a hedge during hot spells, as the newly exposed inner leaves will burn.

The majority of evergreens, other than hedges, need not be trimmed. When they get out of hand, cut off terminal buds of the more vigorous branches, just as spring growth starts.

Get Busy In Your Garden Today

California climate allows gardening the year around. However, this is an especially good time to get outdoors.

But before going ahead with your spring garden, much time and energy can be saved by planning the garden on paper first.

The minimum of equipment necessary to grow flowers is a patient nature, a plot of land, a hoe, rake, sprinkler, trowel, hose, mower and string to help mark out rows.

Those who concentrate on lawns, should be careful the machine is sharp, for a clean cut will never cause injury to grass, while a rough cut will mash the top of the greenery and soil.

Items Of Interest In April Garden

Following are the principal things to do in your garden during April:

Watch for slugs, aphids, and so on. Go over all your plants regularly with a spray. Keep your garden free from debris and weeds.

Look over your Iris this month for overcrowding; divide and replant after blooming season.

Seeds to be sown this month include: asters, zinnias, cosmos, marginals, coriopsis, double larkspur, mignonette, centaurea, phlox dromondii, stocks, salpiglossis, ageratum, gypsophila, dianthus, sunflower, chrysanthemum, arctotis, myosotis, schizanthus and verbena.

Spring flowering shrubs should be trimmed, using a sharp knife.

Dahlia tubers can be planted, but usually May or June are the best months. Gladioli bulbs should be planted, and seeds of summer blooming annuals may be sown now.

This is a good month to apply fertilizers about flowering plants coming into bloom, as well as on lawns.

Be careful of your roses, and watch them for mildew, aphids, spraying them periodically or dusting with agricultural sulphur for mildew, spraying with nicotine preparations for aphids as they appear.

Prepare perennial borders. Take cuttings of Chrysanthemums and propagate in frames, also carnations, pentstemons.

Subdivide delphiniums (2-year-old clumps) now. Examine for heart rot, remove diseased portions, treat with dry sulphur. Fertilize soil before replanting delphinium divisions. Plant in groups two or three feet apart.

HELPFUL HINTS ON GROWING A LAWN WITHOUT DIFFICULTY IN DALY CITY AREA

The best time to plant lawns in the west is from September to early November, and from February to May.

However, unless you are in a severe climate, or at a high altitude, you can start a lawn almost any time.

The soil need not be rich, inexpensive humus can be added. Clay top soil should be replaced.

Level and contour the area you intend to plant. Dig a 10-inch trench, as deep as your spade-fork will reach, across one side and take out the earth. Then fork over the remaining soil in rows, turning soil into the trench as you go so that any weed seeds are buried.

Fertilize area with four to five pounds of fertilizer to each 100 square feet. Soak well, and let stand three days.

To every 250 square feet of area, add one bale of peat, mix well with topsoil, rake and roll before seeding.

Consult your seedsman or nurseryman about the type of seed to use. Tell him about your soil, the location of your lawn, and any other pertinent details. He knows your local conditions and is in a position to advise you best.

Divide seed into two parts, and sow parts in opposite directions for full, even coverage. Work the seed into the soil, by chopping lightly with your rake, using a slight forward motion, then roll lightly.

To help retain the moisture in your soil, apply a top dressing of two parts peat moss and one part top soil, ¼ inch thick. It is best to mix this the day before and moisten to keep peat from blowing.

Use only a fine spray until the grass is well established. Water regularly and never let the surface dry out, particularly during the first few weeks.

Grass should be four to five inches high with mower blade set as high as possible and freshly sharpened to prevent pulling. A

1950 California Spring Garden Show April 21

You don't need an acre in which to garden, so there's hope for the apartment house dweller with only a window for sun and two feet for space, according to Constance Hansen, noted grower of African violets, to be displayed in her exhibit at "Pacifica" the California Spring Garden Show of 1950, opening April 21 at the Oakland exposition building.

Mrs. Hansen declares that the nicest thing about African violets is that for the apartment dweller, the hospital patient, or the busy executive with little time, a single plant with a comparatively small amount of care will last almost an indefinite period. The right amount of light is an important feature in their care, as they will survive in a wide range of growing conditions, but will not bloom without the correct amount of light.

Need North Light
Light through a window facing north is just enough to stimulate the formation of flower buds, but if you cut down on that by so much as a thin glass curtain it will ir. all probability prevent blooming. Light from a south or west facing window, on the other hand, will need to be tempered by glass curtains usually, or the plants set well back from the windows so that the hot days of the sun will not burn or bleach the foliage.

Once you have found a window to their liking, there will be nothing to keep you from the exciting adventure of starting a collection of many name varieties, or if you like, raising plants from seed or developing new ones of your own.

Hansen To Display
As an exhibitor in the 1950 garden show in Oakland, Mrs. Hansen's display is expected to attract thousands of interested persons, since she will show more than 140 unusual varieties of the plant, and is owner of one of the largest collections of African violets in the United States.

"Pacifica" will draw its main theme show from the coastal lagoons of the Pacific shores, stressing the type of landscape architecture so typical of the California-Oregon coastline.

Odds And Ends
About The Garden

Did you know:
You can grow roses without thorns. A variety of roses called "Festival" is the answer.

That $1,000 was paid for rights to a climbing thornless rose.

There is a peach tree only 30 inches high, growing in a pot, that will produce real peaches.

Cut roses should not immediately be arranged, but should be placed in water, leaving only the bloom above the liquid.

FISH AND GAME NOTES

by Jimmy Fox

The fine weather of the past few days should provide some swell sport for the anglers this week end.

Both salmon and bass have shown an inclination to be hooked this week. Some fair catches have been reported from up near Antioch in the bass fishing area. The best we have heard of was a 36-pound fish taken last Saturday near the Big Break. A couple of Daly City anglers got limits of bass from 8 to 15 pounds in the San Joaquin River just above Antioch. They also had fine luck snagging about 20 catfish. Seems that the way to catch the wily old cat is to get over near the bank and fish in the shallow water. The best bet being a spot where there is an island of reeds and cat-tails between the bank and the main stream. Indian Slough near Rio Vista has been providing some fine catfish catches but no bass.

The wind last Sunday had the salmon fishermen baffled but it looks as though the sport will be O.K. this week. The fish will get progressively larger each month from now on. Andy Reeker and Albers Spoons have been the best bet for the salmon so far. Whole sardines will do the trick pretty soon and the Voo-Doo lure will have a chance to show if it will take the large fish as well as it has taken the small fish early in the season.

Duck Movies

All sportsmen in the Bay Area are anxiously awaiting the latest movies of the Canadian "Duck Country." This year's meeting of Ducks Unlimited will be in San Francisco on Tuesday night, April 11. They will have a fine show and will give away prizes galore. The duck hunters will go on a movie trip by canoe, auto, airplane and foot into the Canadian provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the so-called "duck factory of the continent."

The Junior Sportsmen program of the Daly City Rod & Gun Club got underway last week, at a meeting of the prospective instructors, at this writer's home. The general program was gone over and the various committees formed.

The senior advisors are Al Speers, Earl Prigmore, Ed Mierding. Rifle team instructors: Jack Tranberg, Ed Nienstiel, George Lech.

Casting instructors: Ed Nienstiel, Tom Rohatch, George Scally. Archery instructors: George Archer, Jack Loftin.

Camping, woodsmanship and forestry: Chet Flansberg, Bill St. Claire, Jack Loftin, Earl Prigmore.

Fish conservation and fishing instructors: Ed Mierding, Harold Pearlman, Smokey Shalkowski, Bill St. Claire.

Game animals and hunting: Harold Purser and Al Speers. First aid and safety in the woods: Al Biagini.

Entertainment and publicity: Armand Brouette, Al Speers,

Harold Purser. Meeting nights have already been arranged for with the Daly City Recreation Department, and Elman Rose has indicated his willingness to extend full cooperation to the program.

Shooting Front

While the various instructors are working on each of their programs the club is having application blanks printed and is making ready for the big night when the kids can have their first meeting and fill in the application for membership. Keep in touch with this column and we will keep you posted on all developments. In the meantime "Take That Boy Fishing."

On the shooting front the local lads of the Palo Alto Rifle Team tell us that they are on top of the heap as far as the winter league is concerned. The local boys are Ed Nienstiel, Jack Tranberg and E. Baden and all are members of the Palo Alto "D" team. They now have a total of 10 wins and no losses in team competition this winter. In fact they recently beat the pants off a group of "B" league competitors. The "A" team of the Palo Alto club is also knocking 'em for a loop with 13 wins and no losses, so it looks as though they have all the trophies and medals to themselves. We should have some fine instructors for the juniors with these excellent shooters in the club.

Next meeting of the Rod & Gun Club will be on Wednesday, April 12, at the New Tivoli restaurant. It will be a joint meeting with the Southern Pacific Rod & Gun Club.

Adult Swimming Classes Wednesday At Burlingame High

Something new is being started on the Peninsula in the way of a swim class for adults.

Under the auspices of the Adult Center of San Mateo Junior College, Boys' P. E. Department of Burlingame high school and the San Mateo county chapter, American Red Cross, beginner swim classes for adults will be held in the Burlingame high school pool every Wednesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock, April 12 through June 15.

There will also be a senior life saving course on the same evenings from 6:30 to 7:30. Entrants in this life saving class must be 16 years or older, able to swim 400 yards, and qualify for an American Red Cross Swimmers Certificate.

There is no fee for either course and those interested may enter by enrolling at Burlingame pool on April 12 or calling Diamond 3-4261.

Instructor for both classes will be C. E. (Swede) Righter, who has been instrumental in helping to get the program organized.

Silvestri Fourth Time Runner-Up For Golf Win

It happened again last Sunday. Bob Silvestri, Daly City, for the fourth time in five years fought his way to the finals in the San Francisco City Golf Match, and lost out. This time Silvestri was the runner-up to Ken Venturi, 19-year-old San Jose State freshman, who secured his victory in an overtime duel with Silvestri in the finals of the 27th annual event at Harding Park.

The end came on the 38th hole (the 386, par four second at Harding) when Silvestri dropped his second shot into a trap, while Venturi came within 10 feet of the pin.

Silvestri went 25 feet out from the cup, taking two to get down. Venturi also was down in two for the par that meant the championship.

Gelsi's Liquors Score Win

Taking the Central Cafe by the comfortable score of 9 to 6, Gelsi's Liquors last Sunday chalked up another game in the win column. Voto was on the mound for Gelsi's and allowed only six hits. He struck out 8 batters.

Tom Teshara, short stop, came up with a great stop during the game which prevented the Central Cafe from scoring three runs. He chucked the ball to first and stopped the hitter cold.

There will be no game on Easter Sunday.

Jeff Mermen Sink Burlingame 104 To 68 Thursday

The Jefferson High swimming team defeated Burlingame high in a P. A. L. dual meet last Thursday afternoon, March 31 at Jefferson, with the Indians taking all divisions.

Outstanding swimmer for the varsity was Les Nicolini in the 100 free. Nicolini turned the 100 in the time of 1:01.6 though his best time is 1:00.0. In the 30's division Norm Cady took the 50 and 100 free style for the 13th time in a row. Cady has yet to meet defeat in the 50 and 100 free style since his first day in the pool last year.

Hickman, who made all PAL last year in the breast stroke, took first in the 30's 100 yard breast stroke, turning the 100 in 1:29.8. Tom Leach and Loren Wedel won the 50 yard free style for the Indians in the slow time of 28.5. The PAL record is 25.2.

Veteran's Inn --- Seahawks In Two Way Tie For Basketball Championship

By Milton Tromborg

In a two way tie for first place in the Jefferson Night Basketball League today are the Veteran's Inn and Seahawks, with four straight wins in a row, without any defeats.

Four rounds have gone by and neither team has lost a game. Last week the Vets ran all over Gigli Plumbers by the score of 51-27, while the Seahawks took their fourth game over Neville Motors by the close score of 44-40.

On Thursday night, March 30, Hoyt Heaters won their third game over the cellar dwellers V. V. Merchants by the score of 52-46. In the second game of the evening Tiny's Daly City Inn defeated the Loafers, 41-37.

SEAHAWKS GET SCARE

Trying to keep in the race for the championship with Veteran's Inn, the Seahawks had to rally in the last minutes of their game Tuesday night before whipping Neville Motors 44-40 in one of the most thrilling games ever seen in the league.

Neville Motors held the lead at half time 22-21, but at the end of the third quarter found the Seahawks out in front by a slim margin of two points, 37-35.

The back board control of Caldwell and Spillane kept the Seahawks out in front until the sound of the final whistle.

Spillane took scoring honors for the winners with 14 markers. High scorers for Neville Motors found Slacel and L. Desalvator out on top with 11 apiece.

VETS TAKE PLUMBERS

Veteran's Inn had no trouble what so ever in taking their 4th win of the league over Gigli Plumbers last Tuesday night, March 28, since they scored at will to win by the final score of 51-27.

The Vets held a 9 point lead at half time, 23-14 and led at the end of the third quarter, 37-21.

Phenothiazine Poisoning

Phenothiazine poisoning is apt to occur when large doses of this worm medicine are given. Because some owners have no conception of the proper amount to give animals, there have been many cases of severe illness due to overdosing. Except in extreme cases, phenothiazine-poisoned swine recover with a minimum of treatment, but they must be kept out of the sun. If left exposed to hot sunshine, most of them will die.

In the varsity, edging his team mate Ed Galindo by 5 points.

This coming Thursday, April 13, the Jeff swimming team will venture to Palo Alto high. Just for the records, Palo Alto has not lost a swimming meet in the last 3 years. They have won 56 meets in a row.

SPORTS

Better Days For Anglers Coming Soon

Better days for California anglers are just around the corner, according to Seth Gordon, consultant to the Wildlife Conservation Board.

In the second chapter of a report recently released, the nationally-recognized fish and game expert says that by 1952:

Hatchery production of catchable-sized trout and their total weight will be boosted to more than three times the present capacity.

Planting of fingerling trout will be cut almost in half; and more than two and-a-quarter million dollars will have been spent in expansion or new construction of fish hatchery installations operated by the Division of Fish and Game.

Financing of the enormous development program will be provided by State proceeds of pari-mutuel funds, for which nine million dollars were appropriated to expand California's fish and game facilities.

In his lengthy report to the Board and the Legislature's Joint Fish and Game Interim Committee, Gordon recommends a gradual expansion with maximum annual production of nearly 16 million fish and 10 and a half million fingerlings within three years. He urged that the new hatchery system be built now, while funds are available.

Emphasizing the necessity of long-term, state-wide planning of fish production and conservation, Gordon says that sites should be purchased, installations planned, and plants built to meet foreseeable requirements, even though some hatcheries may operate below capacity for a time.

In support of his conclusion, the former president of the International Association of Game and Fish Commissioners states that angling is the one outdoor recreation enjoyed by all age groups, and pressure for more fishing will increase as California's population expands.

D. C. Police Hand Out Calendars

Calendars stressing the necessity of safe driving are now being distributed by the Daly City police department.

The large time markers feature a picture of a small boy run over by a careless driver.

Doing their share to promote safety by sponsoring the calendars are W. J. Sweeney & Sons, Pete Markovich, Lombardi, and W. C. Lasswell.

A good combination: Sweeney sells the car; Markovich insures it; Lombardi tows it away after the wreck, and W. C. Lasswell takes care of the remains. That should be a four-barrelled reminder to anyone to drive safely.

DESPITE CEREGHINO'S TWO HIT CHUCKING, JEFF LOSES TO VIKINGS

By Milton Tromborg

Chuckling his third two-hit game, Jeff pitcher Ed Cereghino fanned 15 batters, while his teammates gave up six costly errors to drop a game with Palo Alto, Friday, 2 to 1.

This is the first loss for the Indians but it probably won't hurt their bid for the PAL championship. All the other teams have won one and lost one, thus putting the league on an even keel.

Palo Alto, who has not won a PAL game in two years, scored the winning run in the eighth inning, on two walks, and two Jeff errors.

It's hard to pin the loss down to any one thing, but errors proved the most important thing in the game. After the game, Ed Cereghino said:

"Every player has an off day, and our infield had theirs today."

The Indians scored their one and only run in the fourth inning on a walk and an error. Findlay took a walk, Matzek struck out and then Mosman grounded out forcing Findlay to second. Pete Delfino hit a line drive to second base, and got on base on an error. Findlay came all the way in from second base to give the Indians a lead of 1-0.

The Vikings came right back and tied the ball game up, on four Jefferson errors. Grant, left fielder for the Vikings hit a line drive to control the ball, so Grant got on first on an error. Next, Grant tried to steal second, and did so on Alex Findlay's overthrow to second base. Grant kept going for third. Center fielder Don Lunghi picked the ball up and threw the ball to third baseman Harold Mosman. Grant would have been out but Mosman let the ball get through him, and Grant came all the way in to score the tying run. John Matzek scored the fourth error of the inning at shortstop.

EXTRA INNING:

PLAYER HURT

At the end on regulation time, seven innings, found the score all tied up 1-1, so the game was forced into extra innings. Cereghino was tiring a little now, but still had a good fast ball to throw at the Vikings. The first batter grounded out from third to first. The next batter lined a single into center field for the second hit of the day off Big Ed.

Cereghino walked the next batter, but caught the man on second base, but John Matzek again made an error, leaving the runner safe. The runner stole third, while Ed again walked a man, to fill the bases.

With one down, the base runner, Don Reeves, on third, tried to steal home, but collided with catcher Alex Findlay, and received a broken leg in the mishap. The game was delayed for 40 minutes before the game could resume. With two outs, and base runners on third and second, the next Palo Alto hitter bunted the ball down the third base line. Cereghino picked the ball up and threw to first, only the runner beat the throw. This scored the winning run for the Vikings.

In Jeff's eighth inning, Lunghi grounded out, Childress grounded out, and then Hank Morgan lined a single into left field for the third Jefferson hit of the day. Morgan stole second, but Alex Findlay struck out to retire the side and to give Palo Alto their first PAL win of the year.

LUNGI CAUGHT TWICE

Centerfielder Don Lunghi for the Indians, kept his average of walks by receiving two, but he was caught twice off first and thrown out. John Matzek was caught off first also, and thrown out.

INDIANS DUMP COMMERCE 11-2

Behind the five-hit pitching of chucker Henry Morgan, the Jefferson High Indians went all out to dump Commerce of San Francisco last Monday afternoon, March 3, by the score of 11-2.

Hitting seemed no problem for the Indians, since they collected 14 base knocks. Henry Morgan went the distance for the Indians (seven innings) and did very well on the mound. Morgan struck out a total of 13 batters, while giving up three walks. Morgan was in trouble a few times but was able to get out of it with the help of his teammates.

Commerce started off the opening inning with two runs, their only runs of the day, off one hit, one walk, and two Jeff errors.

JEFF TAKES LEAD IN THIRD 4-2

The Indians came right back to show their power at the plate by scoring four runs, off five hits, and one error.

Lunghi singled, Childress singled, and both runners stole bases, putting Lunghi on third, and Childress on second. Morgan hit a long ball to center field, for the first out, but Lunghi scored. Mosman singled to drive in Childress, and then Roland got on base on a fielder's choice. Goodnol singled to drive in Mosman, and then Lorenzoni hit another fly ball to score Roland.

The Indians again came back with four more runs in the fourth inning, off two hits and three walks.

The Indians scored three more runs in the seventh inning, on four hits and one error.

$27,500 Goal Of Cancer Drive

The 1950 Cancer Crusade, which opened Saturday, will try to raise $27,500 in this county to finance expanded programs of education, research and service.

The announcement by Philip S. Pope, local chairman of the American Cancer Society, pointed out that the national goal this year is $14,565,000.

"We must make an extra effort to raise our share of the money this year," he said. "There is not one among us in the community who has not lost a dear friend or a relative through cancer. Everyone seems to want to do something about it. Education is one way. Around 67,000 Americans are cured of cancer every year, but we could cure double that number if they just knew the signs early enough. We must have money to spread education."

My Dear Hugh:

My very best wishes to you in your campaign for the Daly City council. I know of the fine work you and Councilman Battye have done on behalf of establishing Civil Service and other benefits for the employees of the city, and of the friendly and co-operative feeling both of you have always had toward Labor.

I know that your running mate Ed Nenstiel has long been a member of Union Labor, and I am confident the three of you will make able representatives of all the people as members of the Daly City council.

The best of luck to all of you.

Small Fire Reported Friday

Work was going ahead on a new house in Broadmoor today, only because of the fast work of Colma firemen Friday.

The hose hoisters were called at 8:10 a.m. to an uncompleted home on Gillman street. Somehow, sparks from a bonfire near the house ignited sheets of tar paper tacked on the walls. Within a matter of seconds one side of the house was ablaze.

Under the direction of Fire Chief Louis Nannini, the Colma blazepusters brought the fire under control before more than $25 damage was done to the house.

D. C. Horseman Hit By Auto

Two horses were killed, and two men injured late Saturday night when a car struck the animals as they crossed the intersection of Highway No. 1 and Skyline boulevard.

Ernest Pacini, 44, 6596 Mission, suffered a compound fracture of the arm, while John K. Allen, 37, of San Francisco, suffered a leg fracture.

Both horses sustained broken legs, and had to be destroyed. The horses belonged to Al DeCamp of San Francisco.

Driving the car was William A. Nagelmaker of San Francisco. Pending investigation, he was not cited.

... THE QUARRY PROPERTY AT HILLSIDE Blvd. and MISSION Street, RIGHT IN THE HEART OF TOWN... WHERE THE BATTYE-SMITH CLIQUE SCHEME TO ESTABLISH AN AUTO COURT--NEXT TO A CHURCH AND ADJOINING ONE OF OUR NEWER RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS

FAIRNESS TO ALL

In purchasing property, the city employs licensed appraisers to determine fair property values.

On the War Memorial Site, for example, there were some lots on Mission street (commercial property) which Battye had neglected to acquire. Accordingly, appraisals were made and these lots were purchased for $1,800 apiece, a fair price. (Battye had paid $2,000 apiece for two adjoining lots, in a condemnation suit.)

THE CITY PAID SMITH (four years ago) more than $9,000 for nine-tenths of an acre (residential property) for a strip he owned on Hillside Blvd. THAT WAS A FAIR PRICE. BUT SMITH ONLY WANTS A FAIR PRICE TO HIMSELF, NOT TO OTHER PROPERTY OWNERS.

The site has been acquired and the War Memorial Community Center will soon be started—THANKS TO

From the standpoint of Progress, the Battye-Smith gang apparently are of the school which formerly believed that "THE AUTOMOBILE WILL NEVER REPLACE THE HORSE."

NEITHER, MR. BATTYE AND MR. SMITH, WILL THE AUTO COURT REPLACE THE CITY. NOT IF WE CAN HELP IT!

SMITH BOUGHT THE QUARRY FOR $8,500.

IT IS ASSESSED AT $4,100.

HE PAYS TAXES OF ONLY $48.25 FOR THE ENTIRE QUARRY.

YET, FOR A STRIP 70 FEET WIDE, extending Brunswick St. from Wellington Ave. to Hillside Blvd., Smith has disdainfully rejected a City-made offer (based on a licensed appraiser's report) of $5,200 for the strip. "Junior" mouths it around town that he and Senior will ask the fantastic sum of $596,000 for the 70 foot strip.

THE CITY HAS FILED A CONDEMNATION SUIT IN SUPERIOR COURT, TO DETERMINE THE FAIR VALUE OF THE STRIP.

THE BATTYE-SMITH group plan, if elected, to withdraw the suit and put up an AUTO COURT, DESPITE A PETITION AGAINST IT SIGNED BY 243 NEARBY RESIDENTS, whose residential property would be impaired.

On February 14, at a caucus meeting of the City Council (at which Battye was absent) the meeting was interrupted by Mr. Battye and Mr. Smith at about 10 p. m. They came in and DEMANDED to see the appraiser's reports and evidence which the City will present to Superior Court to set a price on the 70 foot strip.

BATTYE WAS REMINDED BY THE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL THAT THE SUIT IS ENTITLED... "CITY OF DALY CITY VS. SMITH" AND THAT HE IS SUPPOSED TO REPRESENT THE PEOPLE OF DALY CITY AND NOT SMITH ONLY. The case is set in Superior Court in Redwood City for April 18.

Mr. Smith DID NOT get the evidence he and his agent Battye DEMANDED!

ROOM 6 The pupils of Room 6, afternoon session, have culminated their unit on England by viewing two very interesting films.

They saw the damage inflicted upon that country by the war and the difficulties the British are encountering as an aftermath.

The class is beginning a mural depicting the feudal life in France, their next social science unit.

The pupils of this room have been invited by the county office to repeat a part of their safety program in Burlingame sometime in the near future.

GRADE 7 Grade 7, p.m. session. Room 1. is Robert Bridges, who was a member of this room, won third place. He is now attending the seventh grade in the afternoon.

The essays for the American Legion contest on "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence" are being completed. The entire class participated, but only the best entries are considered for the final selection.

We hope the winner will be found among the Crocker School students.

JEFFERSON ROOM 5 Pupils in the first grade, Room 5, recently enjoyed a word bee. The girls and boys participated separately. A prize was given to the girl and boy knowing the most words and able to stand up to the end. Mardell Angillen won the prize for the girls. Robert Ward won it for the boys. The second grade is busy during their art period making an Easter border for the room. Ronald Top-high, Geraldine Franzola and Anna De Mattei have made very interesting rabbits. Many of the children are making various colored eggs which are to be placed in the grass. Every one is adding a spring flower for color. The children hope the border will be attractive since they have worked so hard.

The students of the third grade are studying about the early living conditions of the Pueblo Indians. Victor Muzzetti and Carolyn Dennis drew pictures of the pueblo home. Barbara Tafaya confirmed accumulated data of the children

Peninsula Hospital Work To Begin November 1

Work on the 106-bed, $2,900,000 Peninsula hospital on a 23-acre site in the Mills estate is expected to be underway by this November.

Robert J. Koshland, president of the hospital, said, unless unforeseen delays occur in the meantime, the building will be completed by mid 1952.

Bids for the hospital will be asked September 1, with 60 days allocated for selection of a contractor.

The hospital is to be paid for from bonds voted by residents of District No. 2.

With a normal bed capacity of 106, the designers have made arrangements for future expansion to accommodate a maximum of 130 beds. The building will be a five-story structure of reinforced concrete.

STRICTLY FRESH

THE UN wants the world's sultans and high potentates to help take a census of harem dancing girls. Here's one case where we wouldn't mind going down for the count.

A Cleveland, O., man seeking a factory job was turned down and promptly tried to set fire to the plant. He was all burned up over the cold shoulder.

Science note: "In explosions heard 100 miles away, there are still large 'zones of silence' much nearer the source of the sound."

Yes, and at home it's those "zones of silence" that are most likely to produce an explosion.

A Kansas City construction worker fell nine stories and suffered only strained muscles. Here, at last, is a safe pedestrian.

THE STREET TO NOWHERE THAT NOBODY WANTS

The above illustration shows the proposed extension of Brunswick Street from Wellington Avenue to Hillside Boulevard, which the city council insists on fostering on the city, and spending many thousands of dollars upon, despite the fact nobody wants it. The street would cut directly through the proposed site for a new $1,000,000 motel, destroying the entire project.

The above illustration shows the proposed extension of Brunswick Street from Wellington Avenue to Hillside Boulevard, which the city council insists on fostering on the city, and spending many thousands of dollars upon, despite the fact nobody wants it. The street would cut directly through the proposed site for a new $1,000,000 motel, destroying the entire project.

STRANGE DOINGS

April 18 the majority members of the Daly City council will launch their fight in Redwood City superior court in an effort to acquire land for "The Street That Leads to Nowhere," perhaps the first spite street ever designed in modern times.

There has been so much misinformation and misunderstanding of this proposal that the people are entitled to a full explanation of just what is happening in the council's effort to block a new $1,000,000 enterprise for Daly City, that will carry an annual payroll of $100,000, with its widespread benefits to all business people, and the city as a whole.

PLANS $1,000,000 PROJECT

I own a tract of land in the main business area of Daly City comprising five acres, which I have planned to develop into the world's largest, and one of its finest and most beautiful motels. The present city council has other ideas. They want to cut a street through the heart of my tract, making it impossible for me to develop this enterprise, which would be of such great benefit to the city.

They have made me the ridiculous offer of $5,022 for the land they seek to carve out of my holdings, for a street that goes nowhere, and that nobody wants. The $5,022 includes damages the city council admits I will suffer, because their proposed street will drop as much as 20 feet below the present grade of my motel site. Picture if you will a street cut through your property 20 feet below the property level. You'd need an elevator to get on it. This wouldn't be a street, it would be a gorge.

Even Mayor Paul Green, who is supporting the street project, after studying the situation jokingly remarked that it might be better to build a tunnel than a street. The street is supposed to be its way across the motel site from Wellington to Hillside as a continuation of Brunswick street. In analyzing what advantages such a street might offer, we come first to the petition circulated and presented to the city council by merchants of the main business section, urging that plans for this street be abandoned.

PETITIONS FORGOTTEN

However, petitions have a way of being forgotten at the city hall, because this one, after being received and duly referred to the street committee, seems never again to have seen the light of day. So far as the record discloses neither the street committee, nor the city council ever again gave it any official recognition.

The city council knew long ago that I planned to construct a modern motel upon the tract, because when I applied for a permit in 1948 to build the first 20 units of a proposed 200-unit enterprise they turned me down cold. Further, they even went so far as to rezone the property to "unclassified" and unclassified it still remains, if you know what that means, because I don't. However, the zoning ordinance reveals that the council can so restrict an unclassified area as to make it subject to the whims and wishes of the council members.

Now here is what such a project as I have planned can mean to Daly City. Statistics from California, Inc., the Tourist Bureau of San Diego and the All Year Club of Southern California prove that tourists spend approximately $10 a day, aside from the cost of accommodations, with business people in the area where they are staying. So if this proposed motel of mine was to be only half full the year around, and the occupants spend only a third of this money here it would mean that the business people here would be getting $400,000 a year dumped into their laps from all over the world. That's in addition to my $1,000,000 investment, the $100,000 a year payroll at the motel, and the additional payrolls that would thus be created.

$400,000 YEARLY FOR MERCHANTS

The tourist spending breaks down like this:

Restaurants	$150,000
Beverages	20,000
Retail Stores	92,000
Local Transportation	18,000
Theatres	8,000
Night Clubs, Etc.	40,000
Gas, Oil, Repairs, Etc.	40,000
Miscellaneous Items	32,000
TOTAL	$400,000

Through the years millions of visitors would spend millions of dollars here, that otherwise would go to some other area. Californians, Inc., report that last year alone 1,624,405 tourists spent $105,911,206 in Northern and Central California. We should get our share of this business, and the motel I propose to build will help insure that we do. Think also of the great advertising our city will get as it plays host to people from all over the world.

$100,000 ANNUAL PAYROLL

Which would you rather have, a street that leads nowhere, and nobody wants, or a $1,000,000 enterprise with a $100,000 annual payroll, bringing nearly $500,000 in business to local merchants annually?

Naturally there are reasons why the Council wants this spite street, that will eliminate the enterprise I have planned as a real boost for Daly City.

We recall that Henry Doelger got his Westlake subdivision into Daly City under very favorable terms to Mr. Doelger. I have always supported such annexations and expansions, but only on a fair and just

Examine it carefully and try to determine what benefit the extension of Brunswick Street through to Hillside Boulevard would be to YOU.

Make your study on the assumption that this street will be well travelled as that must be the thought in the minds of Councilmen who wish to spend many thousands of dollars to put it through.

If your home is on Brunswick Street do you want that quiet residential street turned into a through traffic street with its added noise and hazards, especially for your children?

If you live in the Crocker Tract or abounding areas do you want this added unregulated traffic and its hazards for your children as they go to and from school?

If you live in the Edgewood Terrace Area do you want the added traffic at Hillside Boulevard as you and your family go back and forth to shop, or to the library, the City Hall, the Postoffice, the theatre, the bank, the Church, etc.?

If you live in the Hillcrest or Vista Grande section or the southern or Westlake areas, what benefit can you possibly receive for the many thousands of dollars this street extension will cost?

If you have children attending the Parochial School, or even if you haven't, do you want the added traffic hazard and disturbing noises that this street will create?

Do the merchants on "The Hill" want this street extended? ABSOLUTELY NOT. EVERY ONE contacted signed a petition AGAINST IT.

Note that anyone going from any home in Daly City to the library, the City Hall, the bank, the theatre, the Postoffice, etc. will travel further in so doing if he uses this proposed so-called "short cut."

Would our Fire Department use this street in going from one side of our city to the other and go further in doing it?

If children going to and from school should use this street, where would they cross Mission Street?

What possible need can this street serve? What possible service can it render? Why is it being built?

The original argument presented by the Council that the buses would use this street to turn around subjected them to so much ridicule that we never hear of it anymore.

THINK IT OVER

basis to all residents, new and old alike. It was common knowledge that Mr. Doelger proposed to build a fine new motel on his tract, and I would be for it, because it would mean more of the same business benefits for the entire city, such as my motel would provide. I would gladly support Mr. Doelger's application for a permit to build his motel, but apparently my help will not be needed.

YOU CAN DECIDE

The thing that puzzles me, or perhaps it doesn't really, is why am I, all the merchants, and this part of Daly City being so penalized by the council. Certainly Mr. Doelger doesn't fear that my motel might interfere with his. I don't think his would interfere with mine, and I am sure we both could be successful in our operations.

So determined is the council majority to prevent my building this attractive enterprise, they even employed special legal talent to fight it. I think our city attorney is capable of fighting the council's battles, regardless of their merits, and that is what he is paid to do.

However, in the final analysis the decision is in this, and in all city affairs is up to the people. They elect our councilmen, and they can just as easily remove them. We get exactly the kind of government we vote for, and it is most important that we remember this when electing our city officials.

it was necessary to give up some activities in order to do justice to the remainder.

Airo has Troop 40 of the Boy Scouts, and works with several other boys clubs. He took over temporary leadership of Pack 36 last year, while the board of directors looked for a permanent leader, and stayed on as leader for the year. Airo took his leave reluctantly, and assured the boys and the board he would always be ready to give them a helping hand. He was popular with the boys and will be much missed by them and the board of directors.

Charles Duckering was a captain in the last war and has a son, Russell, in Den 16. Good luck, Duckering.

The following Cubs in Den 16 and 15 received awards last Tuesday night at the Pack meeting: Gene Whinnen, wolf, gold, and silver; Blair Forbes, wolf, gold, and silver; Leonard Burke, wolf, gold, silver, and extra silver; Bill Pfeiffer, wolf, gold, and silver; Jerry Rosenberg, bear, gold; Eddie Lupton, bear, silver; Russell Duck-ering, bear, gold, and silver. Eddie Lupton will be chief denner, and Jerry Rosenberg will be assistant chief denner.

Den 15, Bobcat awards: Barry Drost, Larry Carratti, Billy Francis, John Fern, James Gerlach and Ronald Perrin. Congratulations, boys, for your start in cubs.

Tickets worth $750 for the Scoutarama to be held at the Cow Palace, May 5 and 6, were turned over to Pack 36 to sell. Looks like you boys will really have to turn on the salesmanship and charm. There will be prizes for the 20 top ticket sellers in the Lake Merced district.

In the baseball field, two teams of the National League played out a 21 to 1 game last Saturday at Aptos Junior High. Pack 36 took Pack 123, Den Mother Irene Rosenberg modestly says Pack 123 was a weak team, but maybe it's because you boys practice more and work harder. Wednesday, in the Western League, Pack 36 will play Pack 59, and Saturday morning at 10:30 Pack 36 will play Pack 155, both of the National League.

All you boys who don't play come on out and cheer on your team to victory. Parents, too. Nothing a kid likes better than to perform when his parents are in the audience. Come out to Aptos Junior High Saturday morning and root for your young cubs.

Den 12 put on a skit entitled "Parents Are Funny." They reversed the usual situation and had the parents up on the stage blowing balloons, chewing string to get the marshmallow in the middle, throwing darts at the bull's eye, and a little different version of "pinning the tail on the donkey." Parents entered into the fun with enthusiasm, and the winners got a candy sucker for their rewards.

A Galloping Genie
Modern genie known to steelmen as the continuous rolling mill usually picks up slabs of steel at a speed of four and a half miles an hour. Less than two minutes later it reels them off in the form of ribbons at 20 to 25 miles an hour. Higher speeds are frequently attained, however, and the type of steel sheet that ends up as tin cans has been known to travel a mile a minute.

Since water spots rayon, don't let rayon garments dry thoroughly and then sprinkle. Instead, roll the rayon garment in a towel to eliminate excess moisture; then hang on a hanger until dry enough to iron.

DALY CITY RECORD

GAGGERO - GREEN - KENNEDY STATEMENT TO THE VOTERS

The record of unprecedented accomplishments will continue to merit the support of most Daly City residents when they go to the polls next Tuesday and decide on three city councilmen. The "Progress Brings Prestige" ticket comprised of A. J. Gaggero, Paul Green and James H. "Jim" Kennedy refers to the constructive program of continued improvements pledged to Daly City residents while the opposition ticket has continued to besmirch the city's name with bad publicity and cheap politics.

The two incumbents and their running-mate "Jim" Kennedy have promised a program of public improvements that include new recreation facilities, improved streets, improved street lighting, installation of traffic control lights and encouragement of additional residential areas.

In addition to a continuance of many improvements already begun the "Progress Brings Prestige" ticket is committed to new ones.

The Gaggero - Green - Kennedy program is designed to make Daly City one of the Peninsula's most complete and modern cities.

The three-man ticket is pledged to a continuance of low taxes.

"If you want to know what has been done with tax rates compare tax bills," reads the Gaggero-Green-Kennedy statement. "We have continued to cut tax rates while increasing public service. This has been accomplished at a time when most cities have been forced to increase tax rates. Again we say, it is not necessary to take our word, look at the tax bills of the past two years. A look will convince the most skeptical that the best combination on election day is Gaggero, Green and Kennedy."

The "Progress Brings Prestige" statement went on to say, "We repeat a statement made early in the campaign. We believe with the majority of residents of this city that it is a good city. We are making every effort to improve public services. We are sincere in our feelings. We deem it poor taste for candidates to the city council to blaspheme the name of the city they seek to represent."

The Gaggero - Green - Kennedy statement continues, "We know you think it is a good city. Your overwhelming support of our bond issues and other programs indicate you believe in us. Next Tuesday you'll be asked to renew that trust. Our performance leads us to feel certain you will give us a big vote of confidence."

The "Progress Brings Prestige" combination of Gaggero-Green-Kennedy went on to say, "Your enthusiastic support of our campaign has been appreciated. When the rigors of the campaign end we will all get our shoulders to the wheel and continue to build a bigger and better Daly City despite the bickering of a few selfish critics."

The Gaggero - Green - Kennedy statement concluded by saying, "We sincerely thank you for your support of the past. We pledge our every action towards continuing to deserve it in the future. Again, a heartfelt thank you!"

$27,500 Goal Of Cancer Drive

The 1950 Cancer Crusade, which opened Saturday, will try to raise $27,500 in this county to finance expanded programs of education, research and service.

The announcement by Philip S. Pope, local chairman of the American Cancer Society, pointed out that the national goal this year is $14,565,000.

"We must make an extra effort to raise our share of the money this year," he said. "There is not one among us in the community who has not lost a dear friend or a relative through cancer. Everyone seems to want to do something about it. Education is one way. Around 67,000 Americans are cured of cancer every year, but we could

Labor Council Endorses Green, Gaggero, And Kennedy

The San Mateo County Central Labor Council, AFL, this week endorsed three candidates seeking election to the Daly City council, Tuesday, April 11.

Endorsed are Mayor Paul Green, A. J. Gaggero and J. H. Kennedy.

The six candidates, including Mel Battye, Hugh Smith Jr. and Ed Nensiel, requested endorsement of the council.

cure double that number if they just knew the signs early enough. We must have money to spread education."

BATTYE - NENSTIEL - SMITH STATEMENT TO THE VOTERS

With the campaign for the Daly City council election rapidly drawing to a close, Councilman Mel Battye, Ed Nensiel and Hugh H. Smith Jr. urged today that every citizen go to the polls Tuesday and vote. Battye is candidate for reelection, while Nensiel and Smith are running with him on a council ticket.

The three candidates stressed the fact they have waged a clean campaign, and have endeavored to give the people of Daly City the true story in regard to city government affairs, which they declared "really are in a deplorable state." All three are running on a platform of "restoring the government to the people."

"In all our campaigning," the candidates said, "we have endeavored to stick to the issues involved. We have avoided personalities, because there are problems of great importance and real concern to the people of the city. We have pointed out and substantiated that Daly City is not really being governed by a five-man city council, but by the whims and wishes of political promoters. The majority members of the city council, now asking you to re-elect them, make this possible."

MAJORITY CALLS ITSELF "DO-NOTHING" COUNCIL

"An interesting charge being hurled at us by our opponents is that of a 'do-nothing' council. It should be interesting to the people of Daly City to know that A. J. Gaggero has been mayor and a member of the city council for the past eight years, while Mayor Paul Green has been a member for four years. During their service they have been in the majority control on the city council. So, if we have had a 'do-nothing' council for the past eight years, who could know it better than Green and Gaggero, and who is more responsible?"

"Another amazing thing is the type of program our opponents are offering to the people of Daly City. Instead of citing any concrete achievements whatsoever, they solicit the support of the people on what they plan to do in the years ahead, for recreation and various other things. Why do they fail to mention anything they may have achieved in the past, unless, of course, they know full well they have been coasting along on the work and proposals of Battye and Smith, when both were councilmen."

"What has the present majority of the council done to abate the racketeering and vice now so prevalent in the city, according to reports from investigating agencies. The report of the present county grand jury promised for release this week, should be most enlightening to the people of Daly City in regard to racket activities and their ramifications."

"Our opponents have charged we have not challenged the record of James H. Kennedy, one of their running mates. Certainly, we have-

D. C. Police Hand Out Calendars

Calendars stressing the necessity of safe driving are now being distributed by the Daly City police department. The large time markers feature a picture of a small boy run over by a careless driver.

Doing their share to promote safety by sponsoring the calendars are W. J. Sweeney & Sons, Pete Markovich, Lombardi, and W. C. Lasswell.

A good combination: Sweeney sells the car; Markovich insures it; Lombardi tows it away after the wreck, and W. C. Lasswell takes care of the remains. That should be a four-barrelled reminder to anyone to drive safely.

A MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE

Last week the Battye-Smith combine, with characteristic gall and inaccuracy, purported to show that A. J. GAGGERO and PAUL GREEN were often absent from City Council meetings between 1946 and 1948.

THE FACTS ARE, THAT BETWEEN OCT. 1946 and MAY 1948 PAUL GREEN WAS ON MILITARY LEAVE IN AN ARMY HOSPITAL, AND HIS PLACE WAS TAKEN BY HIS GOOD FRIEND, THE LATE HOWARD McHUGH.

In other words, during that time, while PAUL GREEN was on ACTIVE DUTY with the Army, Battye was on INACTIVE DUTY on the City Council, judging from his "do-nothing" record.

Superior Court Judge Seeks Re-election

Prominent Peninsula business and civic leaders were today listed as sponsors of the campaign to re-elect Murray Draper as Judge of Department 3, Superior Court of San Mateo county.

The list of names of Judge Draper's sponsors was made known today when he officially filed with the county clerk nomination papers for the judicial post.

Judge Draper's list of sponsors was made up of county residents not connected with the legal profession.

In commenting on that point, Judge Draper said:

"In all fairness to my friends and colleagues who are engaged in the practice of law in this county, I did not feel that I should draw upon the legal profession for names in obtaining sponsors' signatures."

"It is most gratifying to note, however, that despite this policy, the bar association of this county,

Air Corps Needs Young Men

Young men between the ages of 17 and 34, inclusive, with high physical and mental qualifications, are eligible for enlistment in the Army and Air Force.

This announcement was made by M/Sgt. William D. McCants of the Army and Air Force recruiting station, San Mateo, today.

Sgt. McCants also stated that both men, with or without prior service are being accepted in both branches of the service. He said that applicants desiring enlistment in the Army are afforded the opportunity to choose a branch of service such as armored cavalry, coast artillery, corps of engineers, field artillery and the infantry.

A careful selection of applicants is being made with the new career guidance program, under which each soldier or airman has an opportunity for training in a highly skilled field of his choice, Sgt. McCants said.

Complete information on these programs may be obtained at the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station, located in the Post Office building, San Mateo, or by telephoning DI 3-6490.

Sheriff Candidate Attacks Gambling

Proctor Jones, candidate for San Mateo county sheriff, this week strongly attacked the proposition to legalize gambling in California.

The proposition has been authorized on the November ballot. Jones also urged all other candidates for peace officer posts to take a similar stand against the measure. He said:

"Organized crime syndicates are undoubtedly active behind this measure. They hope to bring in wide open gambling and make the State of California a partner."

"The measure has been thinly disguised as an initiative to raise funds for aged and blind payments," he added. "I am in hearty accord with adequate pensions for our older citizens, but I am firmly against anything that will open the doors of this state to hoodlums and racketeers."

Jefferson Student Finishes Fifth In Spelling Bee

Competing against winners of San Mateo county school spelling champions March 30, Allan Bollhoffer, Belmont elementary school pupil, emerged victorious by correctly spelling "courageous."

By winning the county championship young Bollhoffer earned the right to compete in the Western California Bee to be held in San Francisco on Saturday, April 29. If victorious at San Francisco he will receive an all-expense trip to Washington, D. C., to represent the West in the national contest on May 26 and will be eligible for the $500 prize and a bonus award of a week-end trip to New York City.

The contestant from the Jefferson elementary school district, Maurie Walker of Broadmoor Village and a seventh grade pupil at the Jefferson elementary school in Colma, hung on in the contest for 45 minutes and placed fifth when he failed to put the final "t" on the word tariff.

The first five winners in the county contest were: Name, School District, Place. Kathleen Feeley, San Bruno Pk. 2. Lucy Reyes, Coastside Union. 3. Leona Melzer, Burlingame Ele. 4. Maurie Walker, Jefferson. 5. Judges serving were: Mrs. J. M. Foley, president 17th District PTA; H. F. Taggart, dean of the San Mateo Junior College, and Richard Harris of the San Mateo Times.

Assistant County School Superintendent Henry C. Hall served as official pronouncer. Chairman and director of the spelling bees for the San Mateo county schools was the local school superintendent, James L. Snell.

New Army Recruiter Now In Daly City

In case you are wondering who the new recruiting sergeant of the army and air force that you have been noticing on the streets is, his name is Sgt. Robert C. Frye.

This announcement was made by M/Sgt. McCants, recruiting officer of San Mateo county.

Sgt. Frye, a veteran of more than 30 months of combat service, is fully specialized to handle all recruiting problems for this area.

Sgt. Frye states that his home is the State of Kansas. However, he has since decided that California is the place for him.

The Sgt. will be in Daly City on Monday of each week from 9 to 5 p.m. He will be more than glad to assist any young men or women in obtaining enlistment in either the army or air force.

If you desire additional information call on the army and air force recruiting station, post office building, San Mateo.

Legion Commander Takes Dim View Of Hoover Commission

By Commander Peter D. Bordson
Daly City Post No. 410
The American Legion

The job security of nearly 1,000,000 veterans now working for government and the employment opportunities of 500,000 other veterans presently on civil service registers would be jeopardized under the Hoover Proposal to revamp personnel management.

Actually this sweep of the Hoover Plan would be more far reaching and implies more misery for veterans and their dependents than any other proposals hitherto discussed in these articles. Its chief target is the historic preference given American War Veterans, widows of deceased veterans and wives of disabled veterans in government employment.

The American Legion needs no help in reading the full implications of this blue print — also labeled "economy."

While paying lip service to the principle of veteran preference in government employment, this proposal, if adopted, would evict the veteran from federal jobs! In its full implication it would make the label "veteran" a handicap instead of a recommendation in securing and holding government employment.

The Hoover Commission Report on Personnel Management is cunningly put together. It says nice things about veteran preference. But a careful study discloses that it proposes amending or repealing 18 sections of the Veterans Preference Act of 1944. These changes would take all the teeth out of the act and leave the veteran where he has been for so many years before—in the unenviable spot where he got the preferences on paper but somebody else got the job!

On economic grounds alone this report is highly vulnerable. With its usual flair to twist its slogan of "economy" into mass-creation of new red tape, not to say new bureaus and new jobs, the Hoover Commission in this instance achieves a master draft for the full-blown bloom of autocratic bureaucracy in which the doors of exit are opened wide for the merit system and the welcome mat is put out for the return of the old-time spoils system!

How the Ax Is to Fall

Four basic preferences granted veterans by the Act of 1944 would be drastically minimized by the Hoover Plan. They are veteran rights in appointments to government jobs, in retention in employment, in fair dismissal procedure and in appeal from arbitrary actions of employing agencies.

Any law is only as good as its enforcement.

Today the Civil Service Commission is the central hiring agency for the government. It is also the sole enforcer of veteran preference rights.

The Hoover Commission, again in the name of "economy" proposes, in effect, to substitute thousands of virtually independent boards for the present single Civil Service Commission. This would enable every government department, bureau and agency to operate its own hiring boards! Imagine the additional personnel that would be required! The vast duplication that would result! The multiplication of red tape! And the incredible maze of differing rules and regulations!

Now we come to the big joker for the veteran.

Every one of these thousands of separate boards in pursuit of its own specialized needs, would have its own interpretations of the Veterans Preference Act! The Hoover Report has no provision for policing these thousands of boards for violations of the act! The Civil Service Commission would be emasculated. With no "policeman" to protect his rights and win his right of appeal abridged, the veteran in government service or seeking a federal job, would get a real pushing around. He would be at the whim of his supervisory official and could be replaced with a non-veteran with impunity.

The Commission proposes to do away with the present numerical rating system in civil service examinations. Particularly it wants to amputate the extra and 10 points granted veterans for their military service. These points would be marked for doom because they are a tangible yardstick of veteran preference! The Commission wants only intangibles!

My next article will summarize the entire case of the veteran for a fair deal.

Sculptress Discusses "Things and Is's"

By RIDGELY CUMMINGS

In search of enlightenment and culture, I went to a preview the other night and came away with new information about "is's" and "things." That's because I met so many valuable artists.

Occasion was the 69th Annual Oil, Tempera and Sculpture Exhibition of the San Francisco Art Association at civic center museum.

The preview was a glittering affair tinged with bohemianism. There were 151 objects on view and easily twice that many people. Nearly half of the exhibits were sculptures and some of the most interesting characters I met were workers in marble, basalt, bronze, steel and wood.

Artists and patrons were of all types, ranging from expensively gowned women with bare shoulders and plenty of jewelry to art students in stringy hair, pullover sweaters and flat-heeled saddle shoes.

The men, mostly on the horn-rimmed side offered less marked variation in dress. There was a sprinkling of tuxes and starched shirt fronts, a few of the outdoor, open-shirt type and Bob Winston, Oakland sculptor, sported a red flannel blouse and a beard. But the bulk of the males wore business suits or slacks and sport jackets, complete with tie, and depended upon haircuts or lack of them for distinctiveness.

Fumbling Helps

The rule against smoking was relaxed for the occasion. That was a blessing. Nothing serves so well for a stalling device as to fumble with cigarettes and matches while thinking up a suitably intelligent comment for the waiting creator.

Each artist had his own little cluster near his work, balancing paper cups of vin rouge and eavesdropping on those who strolled by. I attached myself to Emil White, whose landscape in oil titled "Calli-Flora and Fauna," an atrocious pun, was one of the freshest things on the walls.

Emil had some encouraging words to say about "comprehension," a projected magazine I am currently promoting, and promised to contribute some of his work.

Then he introduced me to a young lady with a strong face and short, curly black hair. Her name was Blanche Phillips. A little later in the evening, poet Kenneth Rexroth said of her that she reminded him of a bust of Beethoven, a simile the young lady took as a compliment, which was fortunate all around because she had muscular, capable-looking hands and I would have hated to see her on the war-path.

Miss Phillips was represented in the show by two sculptures. One was called "Dream No. 11" and consisted of a female figure in brass struggling through a jungle of copper bushes. I asked her what it meant and she talked convincingly of space forms, drawing in solid substances and various dreams she had had might be captured in two dimensions on canvas but were tough to materialize into three dimensions with sculptural tools.

Invents a Label

I asked her more questions, trying to boil Dream No. 11 down to a one-word description and finally in despair she wailed: "Just say it's a thing."

"Can I quote you on that?" I asked.

"Yes, it's a thing."

Her other work was titled "Seated Figure" and showed a semi-nude woman with flat breasts pointed sideways and an Egyptian cast of countenance. This, I was told by another sculptress, would have won a prize had it not been that Miss Phillips had served on the jury with Mary Erckenbrack and Zygmund Szevich. Naturally jury members cannot vote themselves prizes.

I asked the sculptress what idea she was striving to convey in the seated figure and she answered: "Peace, serenity, continuation of being. It's an is. It contains everything within itself."

"Is that because it's a female? Do you think the female figure is more important in art than the male?"

"Look, baby, I wouldn't say that," Miss Phillips declared emphatically. I don't know why she called me baby but suppose that is just the artistic way of speaking. "Each in its own place," she added. The art association's show was handsome and striking.

SUPERVISOR

Edward McDonald
Ed McDonald
To Run Again
For Supervisor

Edward P. McDonald, San Mateo county supervisor from the 5th District today filed his papers for re-election to the post which he has held for the past eight years.

In filing for the position McDonald told reporters: "My efforts as a county official are a matter of public record. Few problems that present themselves to a public official are easily solved, but as in my personal and business life, I have never evaded an issue. Because I believe each act has not only consequences but responsibilities, I have tried to consider every civic interest and public betterment involved in an issue before making a decision."

McDonald re-affirmed his pledge to maintain strict economy in county government, consistent with the services and facilities needed for the rapid growth of San Mateo county.

McDonald first achieved prominence as a member of the historic 1935 grand jury which did much to bring order to county affairs at that time.

He was a member of the city council of Burlingame for six years and was mayor in 1940-41. McDonald has an outstanding record of service during the war years, serving as chairman of the Three Cities War Council, vice-chairman of San Mateo County War Council and took an active part in United States War Bond drives.

McDonald served as president of the California League of Cities (Peninsula Division), president of the San Mateo County Druggist Association and has been a businessman, property owner and taxpayer in Burlingame for 35 years.

The supervisor served as president of the Burlingame Rotary Club and charter president of the El Camino Parlor, Native Sons. He is a director of the San Mateo county branch, American Cancer Society.

McDonald declared that if re-elected he will continue to devote full time to the office of supervisor, which he has done for the past several years.

Greyhound Lines Sets Safety Record

Pacific Greyhound Lines reported today that not one bus passenger fatality occurred during the company's 1949 operation in seven western states.

In that year the company's bus fleet operated 94,236,158 actual miles and an estimated 2,117,531,397 passenger miles in California, Arizona, Arizona, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, New Mexico and Texas.

Statistics compiled by the company's safety engineers and reported by R. E. Gocke, safety director, show:

The company operated 90,973 miles between highway accidents last year, as compared with one accident for every 53,474 miles operated in 1948; one accident for every 52,243 miles operated in 1947, and one accident for every 39,821 miles operated in 1946.

The 1949 accident figure represents an improvement over the 1948 record of 70 per cent.

The no-fatality record of 1949 compares with one passenger fatality in 1946, one in 1947, and one in 1948.
